IKE PLEDGES HUMAN RIGHTS FIGHT

Sen. Byrd Says He Cannot Back Stevenson; Blasts 'Trumanism'

Poland Demands Truce On Terms Rejected By U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Poland demanded today that the U. N. Assembly recommend an immediate armistice in Korea on warmed-over terms already rejected by the United Nations Command.

This was regarded by many Western delegates as a tip on the policy declaration Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky will make in the Assembly tomorrow and they gloomily forecast little progress if such is the case.

Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzesezewski assailed the United States in old and familiar terms. Then he outlined these proposals for a Koren settlement:

Red POW Stand Unchanged

1. Immediate cessation of hostilities—land, sea and air.

2. Return of all prisoners of war to their homeland in accord with established international stipulations.

3. Withdrawal from Korea of foreign troops, including Red Chinese "volunteers" within two to three months and peaceful settlement of the Korean question on the principle of unification of Korea, to be carried out by the Koreans themselves under supervision of a commission with the participation of the parties immediately interested and including states which did not take part in the Korean War.

Vishinsky Offer Awaited

The immediate reaction was that if this is all Vishinsky has to offer tomorrow there is not much chance for progress here on Korea. The West is ready to stop fighting but is flatly opposed to forced repatriation of prisoners. The Communists and the U. N. Command have been split for months on the issue of repatriating prisoners and the talks at Panmunjom have been indefinitely suspended because of the lack of progress there.

Some hours before the Polish delegate spoke, the U. N. Commission on the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea recommended to the Assembly that U. N. forces remain in Korea long after an armistice is reached.

WON'T BACK ADLAI—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (above), Virginia Democratic leader, said last night he could not endorse the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket. He made no mention in a speech at Winchester, Va., of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson's Republican opponent.

Truman Makes Double-Barreled Assault On Ike

BOSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Truman charged tonight that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is riding a whirlwind of slander that threatens to make this election campaign even more "disgraceful and un-American" than the campaign against Al Smith in 1928.

In a speech carefully tailored for this Roman Catholic stronghold, Truman denied in heated words that his administration has been soft toward communism, calling the accusation "preposterous."

Double-Barreled Assault

Then, in a double-barreled assault on the Republican presidential candidate, the President said in a major address prepared for Boston's Symphony Hall that Eisenhower:

1. Has embraced "fanatics" and "moral pygmies" such as Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin and Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana. Such men, Truman said, have started "a reign of terror by slander" of the same explosive danger as the anti-Catholic propaganda used against Smith, the Democratic candidate in 1928.

Runs Into Some Heckling

2. Has spoken truly in likening his "crusade" to the crusade of Oliver Cromwell—the English general-statesman who conquered Ireland in the 17th century, and whose name is a fighting word to many.

Truman's Boston speech climaxed a day of heavy campaigning through New England's industrial cities and farm villages for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson. Big crowds continued to greet Truman although he ran into some heckling from youngsters with "I like Ike" signs.

Va. Democrat Makes No Mention Of Ike

WINCHESTER, Va., Oct. 17 (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Virginia Democratic leader and long-time foe of the Truman administration, announced tonight he cannot "in good conscience" endorse the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

Byrd did not say for whom he would vote. He did not mention the name of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee.

He devoted a state-wide broadcast to an attack on "Trumanism" and said he looked in vain for any sign of independent action by Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee.

Ike Backers' Hopes Boosted

The senator's announcement that he cannot endorse the national Democratic ticket was bound to boost the hopes of Eisenhower supporters that traditionally Democratic Virginia could be swung into the Republican column this year.

Byrd has long been leader of the Democratic organization in Virginia and has many supporters in the South and elsewhere.

However Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia, a close associate of Byrd, is supporting Stevenson and so are other state party leaders, including Sen. Willis Robertson.

Byrd said in the address he prepared for radio delivery that in his judgement "Trumanism is the dominant issue" in the presidential campaign. He said he had hoped that Stevenson would give assurance that, if elected, he would change the course of Trumanism.

Has "Looked In Vain"

"I have looked in vain for any signs of such independent action," said Byrd, long a sharp critic of New Deal and Fair Deal policies.

Byrd said, however, that "I do not feel it incumbent upon me to urge the people to vote for any candidate."

He added:

'I know of no people anywhere more competent to act wisely in the public interest than the voters of Virginia, but I feel it my clear obligation as the candidate of the Democratic Party of Virginia for the United States Senate to discuss with the utmost candor reasons that have prompted me in the decision I have made."

Reds Retake Triangle Hill Strong Point

Yanks Hold Height For Hour And Half

SEOUL, Saturday, Oct. 18 (AP) — Attacking U. S. Seventh Division troops drove Chinese Reds off the last strong point on Triangle Hill in Central Korea today but the Reds won it back an hour and a half later.

The seesaw action was over Pike's Peak, a height on the northwest corner of the Triangle Hill mass. In the fighting over this and other Central Korean hills since Oct. 8 the Reds were estimated to have suffered losses of 18,000 killed and wounded.

AP Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the Central Front that Pike's Peak fell to the Americans at 7:30 a. m. after a bitter battle of one hour and 40 minutes. But an Eighth Army briefing officer said later that the Reds retook the height at 9 a. m.

Mortar—Artillery Duel

The Americans had launched their attack at 5:50 a. m. under a screen of mortar and artillery fire. Heavy Chinese mortar and artillery fire opposed the advance.

The Reds kept banging away with mortars and artillery in covering withdrawals to nearby Papa-San Mountain.

Last night at 11:05, a Chinese Red battalion — between 500 and 750 men — had attacked from Pike's Peak. They got within grenade-throwing range before the Americans drove them back at 1 p. m.

"Our flares showed one group of 100 Chinese moving back to Pike's Peak carrying 100 more killed or wounded," Farneti said.

Time-On-Target Barrage

About 90 guns of five U. S. battalions last night fired a time-on-target barrage on a Communist command post and staging area north of Triangle Hill. A time-on-target barrage is one in which the guns fire on so that their shells all land on the target at the same moment.

On nearby Sniper Ridge, South Korean troops last night and early today turned back three big Communist assaults. AP Correspondent John Fujii, on Sniper Ridge during the battle, reported that the South Koreans piled up Chinese Red bodies in front of their positions.

In another furious engagement less than 20 miles to the west, South Koreans withdrew to the southern slopes of Iron Horse mountain. The Reds entrenched on the northern slopes. The crest itself was a shell-swept no man's land.

Survivor Of Quadruple Murder

McCarran Act, Poll Tax Draw General's Fire

Not Isolationist, GOP Nominee Says

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP) — Gen. Dwight Eisenhower pledged himself to a nationwide fight for human rights tonight, and said that if he becomes president, he will lead it, personally.

He picked Northern New Jersey, which has a large Negro population, as the place to say:

"If I am elected, I will confer with the governors of the 48 states. I will urge them to take the leadership in their states in guaranteeing the economic rights of all our citizens."

This was the climax of two days in New Jersey.

In Newark he condemned the poll tax and the McCarran Act which regulates immigration.

And he recalled that President Truman once voted against lifting the poll tax. It occurred in 1942, he said, while Truman was still a senator.

"This is the same man who, having risen to the presidency, claims to be the only true friend our Negro citizens have," Eisenhower said.

The tour through New Jersey, a key industrial state, brought on Eisenhower's first real booing.

He went into Camden during the noon hour, and as his motorcade passed workmen standing on the curbs and inside the gates of the factories, they let go with some solid expressions of disapproval.

In New Brunswick, speaking from the steps of the Courthouse, he faced a set of unfriendly placards.

But elsewhere, he was the object of great excitement, even though he passed through four strongly Democratic counties in New Jersey.

Toward the end of his speech, he laid down a series of statements that sounded like retorts to some of the charges the Democrats have been placing against him.

One of them came when he said: "I have listened to the suggestions made to me by Republicans from all parts of the country . . . But let me make it quite clear as to my personal responsibility for my ultimate decisions. Those decisions have been and will be mine alone."

He also said he has not become an isolationist, has not abandoned his political ideals, and believes Gen. George C. Marshall, his wartime chief is an outstanding patriot.

Wanton Soviet Attack On B-29 Charged By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The United States charged Russia today with wanton destruction of an unarmed B-29 American bomber near Japan and warned Moscow of possible grave consequences from such "reckless" attacks.

A protest note couched in some of the strongest terms the United States has used in relations with the Soviets demanded compensation for the plane and any of its crew of eight men who may have perished. It disappeared Oct. 7 and Moscow contended it violated Soviet frontiers by flying in the area of the Russian-occupied Yuri Island.

Moscow Accused Of Lying

Denying this flatly, the U. S. accused Moscow of "calculated misrepresentation of the facts." It urged the Soviet government "seriously to consider the grave consequences which can flow from its reckless practice, if persisted in, of attacking without provocation the aircraft of other states."

The protest was delivered to the Foreign Office in Moscow by Embassy Counselor Elim O'Shaughnessy and immediately made public by the State Department.

The missing bomber, the U. S. said, was on a routine flight.

"The plane was not equipped for combat operations of any kind," Moscow was told. "It carried no bombs and its guns were inoperative. Its officers were under explicit instructions to remain within Japanese territory at all times.

Soviet Frontier Not Violated

"A thorough investigation by United States authorities has established that the United States Air Force plane did not, as alleged, violate any Soviet state frontier and that it did not at any time fly over Yuri Island. In fact, the radar plot of the tracks of the United States and Soviet aircraft shows conclusively that the interception by the Soviet fighter aircraft occurred 32 miles from Yuri Island and approximately six miles from the Japanese island of Hokkaido."

Blushing Ike Gets Big Hug And Kiss

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER, Oct. 17 (AP)—A woman ran into the street and gave a surprised Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower a big hug and a kiss today as he campaigned in Wilmington, Del.

The general was riding in an open car, just after finishing a speech. He was in the rear seat, waving at bystanders.

The car was moving slowly when the woman trotted out in pursuit of it. She caught up as it stopped briefly, patted the Republican presidential candidate on the left arm, then started back toward the curb.

Egyptian Switch To Republic Seen

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 17 (AP)—Egypt is going to abandon her monarchy and become a republic, a usually reliable source said tonight.

Plans are being laid for the transition, he said, but declined to say when it would take place.

Rumors circulated throughout Cairo that the Egyptian State Broadcasting Company would issue a momentous announcement shortly. Newspaper offices said they were standing by for such an announcement, but an army spokesman reported there would be none tonight.

Egypt's King is Fuad II, nine months old yesterday, who is in Italy with his father, the exiled Farouk II.

A three-man regency council that has been ruling for the baby monarch was reduced Tuesday to a single regent, Prince Mohammed Abdel Moneim, a second cousin of Farouk. The shakeup was set off when Premier Gen. Mohammed Naguib fired an army officer, Col. Rashad Mehanna, from the council.

The Egyptian strongman accused the officer of "actions which give the impression there was a split in the current Egyptian reform drive" —a drive that led to Farouk's ouster July 26.

WSB Seeks Mine Decision Today As Strike Grows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — Chairman Archibald Cox of the Wage Stabilization Board said today his board "hopes to reach a decision" on the soft coal wage case tomorrow.

Whether the creeping soft coal strike ends will depend on whether the WSB decides John L. Lewis' 350,000 coal miners may get their $1.90 daily wage boost or declares the raise inflationary and orders it cut back. Some 168,000 miners were idle today.

Cox Won't Be "Rushed"

The board had been studying the case for four days. Walkouts in the soft coal field started early this week when paychecks covering the first few days of October failed to include the raise which coal producers cannot legally pay without WSB approval.

Despite these walkouts, Cox has repeatedly said he would not be "rushed" into a hasty decision. He said when the WSB started studying the case that it would require "very careful deliberations."

Labor members of the wage board appear convinced that the wage boost is approvable when studied in the light of all WSB pay regulations.tions.

But industry members were reported in firm and solid opposition on the ground the wage hike far exceeds the board's stabilization rules.

Public Members Hold Balance

Public members, headed by WSB Chairman Archibald Cox, have given no public inkling of their position. The raise cannot be legally paid by coal operators until the WSB approves it and the final decision appears likely to rest with the public members.

The Office of Price Stabilization, meanwhile, held up any action on industry requests for price increases to offset the anticipated cost of the wage boost for more than 350,000 soft coal miners.

The total number of miners out on silent strike in protest against the failure of their latest pay checks to include the pay hike grew slowly to some 168,000. Some men were reported returning to work but others quit.

McKeldin Unhurt In Auto Accident

LINKWOOD, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin was in an automobile accident tonight that resulted in $300 damage to the state car but caused no injuries to any of the parties involved, according to State Police.

The accident occurred on U. S. 50 near this Dorchester County town as the governor was en route to Salisbury to address a Republican rally.

State Police Corp. R. B. Harris, who investigated the accident, said the governor's car was struck at an intersection by a 1936 model automobile driven by Karlton N. Jones, 79, of Linkwood.

Harris said Jones, making a left turn into a side road, took the right of way from the governor's car and smashed the automobile in the right rear end.

Corp. P. C. Kosirowsky of the state police was driving the governor. Damage to Jones' car was estimated at $50.

Explosion Kills Two

GEFF, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP)—A nitroglycerine charge exploded prematurely today, killing two men—one a curious onlooker—as it hurled bits of pipe like shrapnel. Three men were injured.

The nitroglycerine exploded as it was being put into an oil well.

Warren Declares Ike Best Hope For Peace

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17 (AP) — California's Gov. Earl Warren said here today that Dwight D. Eisenhower is the nation's and the world's one best hope for peace.

The governor, in a speech at a Republican rally in suburban Clayton, said "peace is a great issue in the world today. Gen. Eisenhower is better equipped to lead this country to peace than any man in public life."

Warren said Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, "has done more to organize the free world for its own defense than any one person in the world."

Indonesians Riot; Curfew Imposed

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 17 (AP) —A mob of about 10,000, apparently including many Communists, demonstrated against Indonesia's Parliament and The Netherlands here today in an ugly reminder of the revolutionary times in which this republic was born.

Tank-backed troops imposed a curfew tonight.

A parliamentary vote censuring Defense Minister Hamengku Buwono IX, the popular Sultan of Jogjakarta, touched off the rioting —along with rumors that Premier Wilopo's government might fall.

Placards demanded the dissolution of Parliament, general elections immediately instead of at the end of 1953 as scheduled, and recall of the military mission of The Netherlands, to which this former colony remains linked under the Dutch crown.

The mob smashed furniture and a number of windows in Parliament. It moved noisily into the garden of The Netherlands high commissioner, hauled down the Dutch flag and ripped it to ribbons.

The demonstrators surged on to the Presidential Palace, but dispersed after President Soekarno told them their demand for dissolution of Parliament would be considered.

Beck Replaces Tobin As Teamsters' Chief

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (INS) — Daniel J. Tobin retired today after 45 years as general president of the AFL-International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Dave Beck of Seattle, West Coast boss of the world's biggest union, was elected as his successor.

Beck's name was placed in nomination by the 77-year-old retiring chieftain and he was elected by a roaring unanimous vote of the nearly 2,000 delegates attending the union's national convention in Los Angeles.

Tobin subsequently was named to the newly-created post of general president-emeritus at the same $50,000 salary which goes to the active head of the union.

Actor Collapses

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 17 (AP)—Actor James Barton, 62, was in satisfactory condition today after he collapsed last night in his dressing room.

He was appearing in a show at a hotel.

Stevenson Denounces "False Propaganda"

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared tonight "there is not one crumb of truth" in charges he said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made regarding the controversial and potentially oil-rich submerged coastal lands.

Driving to keep the South solidly in the Democratic fold in the November election, Stevenson, the partys' presidential nominee, talked about the tidelands issue at an outdoor rally at the Texas State Fair grounds in Dallas.

The Illinois governor told the crowd, which listened without any show of great enthusiasm when he talked about his views on the coastal lands:

1949 Miss America Is Granted Divorce

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 17 (AP)—Jacque Mercer, Miss America of 1949, got an uncontested divorce today from William Oldenburger III of Mexico City and Newport Beach, Calif., her second husband.

She charged him with extreme cruelty since their marriage Aug. 22.

Truman Charges Ike Willing To Embrace Nazi Practices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — President Truman said today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is willing to embrace Nazi practices to become president. The charge drew vehement protests.

Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the Truman statement "the most vicious utterance made in the history of American politics."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, co-chairman of the Republican Speakers Bureau, termed it a "disgusting exhibition by a man holding the office of president of the United States."

Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the Washington Post, issued a statement saying the Truman charge "will be resented by every thoughtful American, whatever his race or religion."

Truman made his charge in a message he left behind to be read at the mobilization conference of the National Jewish Welfare Board in Washington. The President is busy whistle-stopping through New England.

Truman made the accusation in saying Eisenhower had endorsed Republican senators who voted to pass the McCarran immigration bill over Truman's veto.

Truman said the bill adds up to "the philosophy of racial superiority developed by the Nazis."

Truman Plans Three Pa. Political Speeches

BOSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Truman will stump for Democratic candidates in the industrial East next week with Pennsylvania speeches in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton.

His White House staff announced tonight that the President, who returns to Washington Sunday morning from his current New England tour, will reboard his 16-car special train again Monday night and move out early Tuesday morning.

The three day trip, carrying Truman into New Jersey, West Virginia and Maryland, will be followed by still another Truman tour of the Midwest and ending up in his native Missouri where he will vote at Independence.

Grammer Admitted He Slugged His Wife With Pipe, Evidence Reveals

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP)—George Edward Grammer admitted he slugged his wife with a piece of pipe after a half-dozen drinks when she "said something about my job being more important to me than she was," evidence in court disclosed today.

The evidence was Grammer's signed statement of what he said happened the night of August 19 when his wife was found dead in her wrecked car. On her head were deep gashes the medical examiner said could not have been inflicted by any object inside the car.

Judge Herman M. Moser admitted four statements police said Grammer made while being held for questioning on August 30 and 31. Three were in longhand taken by officers. The fourth was made before a police stenographer.

Grammer, his eyes puffy and shadowy, sagged visibly when the judge admitted the statements. During the rest of the afternoon he kept his head bent down, his hands folded in his lap. You couldn't tell if his eyes were open or closed.

The state contends the 35-year-old Grammer killed his wife, Dorothy May, so he could marry a Canadian secretary at the United Nations headquarters in New York, with whom he was "hopelessly in love."

Second Super-Carrier Will Be "Saratoga"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—"Saratoga" was chosen today as the name to be bestowed on the Navy's second super-aircraft carrier. The Navy announced the keel of the 60,000-ton ship will be laid in December at New York naval shipyard.

The first of the Navy's postwar big carriers, the Forrestal, is now under construction at Newport News, Va. Its keel was laid last July.

East German Red Leader Reported Killed By Poles

BONN, Germany, Oct. 17 (AP) — West German government officials said tonight they are investigating rumors that Walter Ulbricht, East German Red leader, was killed by Polish anti-Communists aboard the Warsaw-Moscow Blue Express train.

Ulbricht is deputy premier of Soviet-occupied East Germany and boss of the ruling Communist Socialist Unity Party.

The independent Bremen newspaper Weserkurier today reported from Bonn that according to its information Ulbricht was riding the Blue Express when Polish anti-Red underground partisans derailed it.

It said all passengers not killed in the derailment were slain by partisans.

The official East German news agency ADN reported weeks ago that Ulbricht had gone to Russia for treatment of a serious ailment, the Bremen paper said, adding that it was on this trip that he was killed.

The Berlin Bureau of the Associated Press, which has access to ADN reports, saw no dispatch from that agency reporting Ulbricht's departure for a Moscow cure.

However, two weeks ago ADN reported Ulbricht was going to attend the recent Communist Party congress in Moscow.

Toward the end of his speech, he laid down a series of statements that sounded like retorts to some of the charges the Democrats have been placing against him.

One of them came when he said:

"I have listened to the suggestions made to me by Republicans from all parts of the country . . . But let me make it quite clear as to my personal responsibility for my ultimate decisions. Those decisions have been and will be mine alone."

He also said he has not become an isolationist, has not abandoned his political ideals, and believes Gen. George C. Marshall, his wartime chief is an outstanding patriot.

Wanton Soviet Attack On B-29 Charged By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The United States charged Russia today with wanton destruction of an unarmed B-29 American bomber near Japan and warned Moscow of possible grave consequences from such "reckless" attacks.

A protest note couched in some of the strongest terms the United States has used in relations with the Soviets demanded compensation for the plane and any of its crew of eight men who may have perished. It disappeared Oct. 7 and Moscow contended it violated Soviet frontiers by flying in the area of the Russian-occupied Yuri Island.

Moscow Accused Of Lying

Denying this flatly, the U. S. accused Moscow of "calculated misrepresentation of the facts." It urged the Soviet government "seriously to consider the grave consequences which can flow from its reckless practice, if persisted in, of attacking without provocation the aircraft of other states."

The protest was delivered to the Foreign Office in Moscow by Embassy Counselor Elim O'Shaughnessy and immediately made public by the State Department.

The missing bomber, the U. S. said, was on a routine flight.

"The plane was not equipped for combat operations of any kind," Moscow was told. "It carried no bombs and its guns were inoperative. Its officers were under explicit instructions to remain within Japanese territory at all times.

Soviet Frontier Not Violated

"A thorough investigation by United States authorities has established that the United States Air Force plane did not, as alleged, violate any Soviet state frontier and that it did not at any time fly over Yuri Island. In fact, the radar plot of the tracks of the United States and Soviet aircraft shows conclusively that the interception by the Soviet fighter aircraft occurred 32 miles from Yuri Island and approximately six miles from the Japanese island of Hokkaido."

Blushing Ike Gets Big Hug And Kiss

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER, Oct. 17 (AP)—A woman ran into the street and gave a surprised Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower a big hug and a kiss today as he campaigned in Wilmington, Del.

The general was riding in an open car, just after finishing a speech. He was in the rear seat, waving at bystanders.

The car was moving slowly when the woman trotted out in pursuit of it. She caught up as it stopped briefly, patted the Republican presidential candidate on the left arm, then started back toward the curb.

Egyptian Switch To Republic Seen

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 17 (AP)—Egypt is going to abandon her monarchy and become a republic, a usually reliable source said tonight.

Plans are being laid for the transition, he said, but declined to say when it would take place.

Rumors circulated throughout Cairo that the Egyptian State Broadcasting Company would issue a momentous announcement shortly. Newspaper offices said they were standing by for such an announcement, but an army spokesman reported there would be none tonight.

Egypt's King is Fuad II, nine months old yesterday, who is in Italy with his father, the exiled Farouk II.

A three-man regency council that has been ruling for the baby monarch was reduced Tuesday to a single regent, Prince Mohammed Abdel Moneim, a second cousin of Farouk. The shakeup was set off when Premier Gen. Mohammed Naguib fired an army officer, Col. Rashad Mehanna, from the council.

The Egyptian strongman accused the officer of "actions which give the impression there was a split in the current Egyptian reform drive" —a drive that led to Farouk's ouster July 26.

Second Super-Carrier Will Be "Saratoga"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—"Saratoga" was chosen today as the name to be bestowed on the Navy's second super-aircraft carrier. The Navy announced the keel of the 60,000-ton ship will be laid in December at New York naval shipyard.

The first of the Navy's postwar big carriers, the Forrestal, is now under construction at Newport News, Va. Its keel was laid last July.

The new Saratoga will be the sixth naval vessel of its name.

WSB Seeks Mine Decision Today As Strike Grows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — Chairman Archibald Cox of the Wage Stabilization Board said today his board "hopes to reach a decision" on the soft coal wage case tomorrow.

Whether the creeping soft coal strike ends will depend on whether the WSB decides John L. Lewis' 350,000 coal miners may get their $1.90 daily wage boost or declares the raise inflationary and orders it cut back. Some 168,000 miners were idle today.

Cox Won't Be "Rushed"

The board had been studying the case for four days. Walkouts in the soft coal field started early this week when paychecks covering the first few days of October failed to include the raise which coal producers cannot legally pay without WSB approval.

Despite these walkouts, Cox has repeatedly said he would not be "rushed" into a hasty decision. He said when the WSB started studying the case that it would require "very careful deliberations."

Labor members of the wage board appear convinced that the wage boost is approvable when studied in the light of all WSB pay regulations. tions.

But industry members were reported in firm and solid opposition on the ground the wage hike far exceeds the board's stabilization rules.

Public Members Hold Balance

Public members, headed by WSB Chairman Archibald Cox, have given no public inkling of their position. The raise cannot be legally paid by coal operators until the WSB approves it and the final decision appears likely to rest with the public members.

The Office of Price Stabilization, meanwhile, held up any action on industry requests for price increases to offset the anticipated cost of the wage boost for more than 350,000 soft coal miners.

The total number of miners out on silent strike in protest against the failure of their latest pay checks to include the pay hike grew slowly to some 168,000. Some men were reported returning to work but others quit.

Stevenson Denounces "False Propaganda"

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared tonight "there is not one crumb of truth" in charges he said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made regarding the controversial and potentially oil-rich submerged coastal lands.

Driving to keep the South solidly in the Democratic fold in the November election, Stevenson, the partys' presidential nominee, talked about the tidelands issue at an outdoor rally at the Texas State Fair grounds in Dallas.

The Illinois governor told the crowd, which listened without any show of great enthusiasm when he talked about his views on the coastal lands:

1949 Miss America Is Granted Divorce

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 17 (AP)—Jacque Mercer, Miss America of 1949, got an uncontested divorce today from William Oldenburger III of Mexico City and Newport Beach, Calif., her second husband.

She charged him with extreme cruelty since their marriage Aug. 22.

McKeldin Unhurt In Auto Accident

LINKWOOD, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin was in an automobile accident tonight that resulted in $300 damage to the state car but caused no injuries to any of the parties involved, according to State Police.

The accident occurred on U. S. 50 near this Dorchester County town as the governor was en route to Salisbury to address a Republican rally.

State Police Corp. R. B. Harris, who investigated the accident, said the governor's car was struck at an intersection by a 1936 model automobile driven by Karlton N. Jones, 79, of Linkwood.

Harris said Jones, making a left turn into a side road, took the right of way from the governor's car and smashed the automobile in the right rear end.

Corp. P. C. Kosirowsky of the state police was driving the governor. Damage to Jones' car was estimated at $50.

Explosion Kills Two

GEFF, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP)—A nitroglycerine charge exploded prematurely today, killing two men—one a curious onlooker—as it hurled bits of pipe like shrapnel. Three men were injured.

The nitroglycerine exploded as it was being put into an oil well.

Warren Declares Ike Best Hope For Peace

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17 (AP) — California's Gov. Earl Warren said here today that Dwight D. Eisenhower is the nation's and the world's one best hope for peace.

The governor, in a speech at a Republican rally in suburban Clayton, said "peace is a great issue in the world today. Gen. Eisenhower is better equipped to lead this country to peace than any man in public life."

Warren said Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, "has done more to organize the free world for its own defense than any one person in the world."

Indonesians Riot; Curfew Imposed

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 17 (AP) —A mob of about 10,000, apparently including many Communists, demonstrated against Indonesia's Parliament and The Netherlands here today in an ugly reminder of the revolutionary times in which this republic was born.

Tank-backed troops imposed a curfew tonight.

A parliamentary vote censuring Defense Minister Hamengku Buwono IX, the popular Sultan of Jogjakarta, touched off the rioting —along with rumors that Premier Wilopo's government might fall.

Placards demanded the dissolution of Parliament, general elections immediately instead of at the end of 1953 as scheduled, and recall of the military mission of The Netherlands, to which this former colony remains linked under the Dutch crown.

The mob smashed furniture and a number of windows in Parliament. It moved noisily into the garden of The Netherlands high commissioner, hauled down the Dutch flag and ripped it to ribbons.

The demonstrators surged on to the Presidential Palace, but dispersed after President Soekarno told them their demand for dissolution of Parliament would be considered.

Beck Replaces Tobin As Teamsters' Chief

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (INS) — Daniel J. Tobin retired today after 45 years as general president of the AFL-International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Dave Beck of Seattle, West Coast boss of the world's biggest union, was elected as his successor.

Beck's name was placed in nomination by the 77-year-old retiring chieftain and he was elected by a roaring unanimous vote of the nearly 2,000 delegates attending the union's national convention in Los Angeles.

Tobin subsequently was named to the newly-created post of general president-emeritus at the same $50,000 salary which goes to the active head of the union.

Actor Collapses

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 17 (AP)—Actor James Barton, 62, was in satisfactory condition today after he collapsed last night in his dressing room.

He was appearing in a show at a hotel.

Truman Charges Ike Willing To Embrace Nazi Practices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — President Truman said today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is willing to embrace Nazi practices to become president. The charge drew vehement protests.

Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the Truman statement "the most vicious utterance made in the history of American politics."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, co-chairman of the Republican Speakers Bureau, termed it a "disgusting exhibition by a man holding the office of president of the United States."

Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the Washington Post, issued a statement saying the Truman charge "will be resented by every thoughtful American, whatever his race or religion."

Truman made his charge in a message he left behind to be read at the mobilization conference of the National Jewish Welfare Board in Washington. The President is busy whistle-stopping through New England.

Truman made the accusation in saying Eisenhower had endorsed Republican senators who voted to pass the McCarran immigration bill over Truman's veto.

Truman said the bill adds up to "the philosophy of racial superiority developed by the Nazis."

Truman Plans Three Pa. Political Speeches

BOSTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Truman will stump for Democratic candidates in the industrial East next week with Pennsylvania speeches in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton.

His White House staff announced tonight that the President, who returns to Washington Sunday morning from his current New England tour, will reboard his 16-car special train again Monday night and move out early Tuesday morning.

The three day trip, carrying Truman into New Jersey, West Virginia and Maryland, will be followed by still another Truman tour of the Midwest and ending up in his native Missouri where he will vote at Independence.

Grammer Admitted He Slugged His Wife With Pipe, Evidence Reveals

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP)—George Edward Grammer admitted he slugged his wife with a piece of pipe after a half-dozen drinks when she "said something about my job being more important to me than she was," evidence in court disclosed today.

The evidence was Grammer's signed statement of what he said happened the night of August 19 when his wife was found dead in her wrecked car. On her head were deep gashes the medical examiner said could not have been inflicted by any object inside the car.

Judge Herman M. Moser admitted four statements police said Grammer made while being held for questioning on August 30 and 31. Three were in longhand taken by officers. The fourth was made before a police stenographer.

Grammer, his eyes puffy and shadowy, sagged visibly when the judge admitted the statements. During the rest of the afternoon he kept his head bent down, his hands folded in his lap. You couldn't tell if his eyes were open or closed.

The state contends the 35-year-old Grammer killed his wife, Dorothy May, so he could marry a Canadian secretary at the United Nations headquarters in New York, with whom he was "hopelessly in love."

East German Red Leader Reported Killed By Poles

BONN, Germany, Oct. 17 (AP) — West German government officials said tonight they are investigating rumors that Walter Ulbricht, East German Red leader, was killed by Polish anti-Communists aboard the Warsaw-Moscow Blue Express train.

Ulbricht is deputy premier of Soviet-occupied East Germany and boss of the ruling Communist Socialist Unity Party.

The independent Bremen newspaper Weserkurier today reported from Bonn that according to its information Ulbricht was riding the Blue Express when Polish anti-Red underground partisans derailed it.

It said all passengers not killed in the derailment were slain by partisans.

The official East German news agency ADN reported weeks ago that Ulbricht had gone to Russia for treatment of a serious ailment, the Bremen paper said, adding that it was on this trip that he was killed.

The Berlin Bureau of the Associated Press, which has access to ADN reports, saw no dispatch from that agency reporting Ulbricht's departure for a Moscow cure.

However, two weeks ago ADN reported Ulbricht was going to attend the recent Communist Party congress in Moscow.

Political Flyer Draws GOP Fire

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP) — A Republican attorney said today he would recommend to the state party head "criminal action" against the distributors of a political flyer which has been circulated in the Washington County area.

The recommendation comes from Stanley Scherr, vice chairman of the Republican Party in Maryland, who said the flyers were "in violation of the Maryland Corrupt Practices Act" because they did not state under whose authority they were issued.

The four-page tabloid entitled "Change Back to What?" was distributed in Hagerstown today by the CIO Political Action Committee, according to a union official.

Scherr described the tabloid as a "smear paper", and said he would recommend to State Chairman Eldred Rinehart that criminal action be taken "to break up such irregular and illegal practices."

The entire back page is devoted to two statements, one in which Sen. Taft is quoted as saying that people could "eat less" to combat the high cost of food, and another in which Gen. Eisenhower is quoted as saying "if all that Americans want is security, they can go to jail."

Atom Scientist Kills Self With Chemical

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP) — A young atomic scientist, honored for wartime research, died today on Rutgers University campus after drinking a chemical solution. Two college workers were unable to halt him.

Middlesex County Coroner Robert H. Jamison ruled the death of Dr. John F. Lane, 36, as a suicide. Jamison said the nature of the chemical solution was not determined.

No notes were left, and police said they knew no reason for the act.

Adlai Called "Darling Of Fair Deal Bossism"

SALISBURY, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin tonight called Gov. Adlai Stevenson "the darling of Fair Deal bossism" and reiterated his prediction Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will crack the solid South in next month's presidential election.

The governor spoke at a rally sponsored by the Women's Republican Club and the Republican State Central committee for Wicomico County.

spread about the effect of the Supreme Court decision."

That was an allusion to the court's decision that the United States — and not the individual states—have "paramount rights" to the submerged lands.

Stevenson's support of the Supreme Count decision on tidelands is one of the reasons why some prominent Texas Democrats have repudiated him and have announced they will vote for Stevenson's GOP opponent.

Stevenson came to Dallas from Fort Worth, where—discounting the Lone Star State's party rebels — he declared "this talk about infidelity deep in the Democratic hearts of Texas is greatly exaggerated."

He expressed confidence the state will remain in the Democratic column in the November election.

Mechanical Heart Success; Opens New Era In Surgery

DETROIT, Oct. 17 (AP)—A mechanical heart that works in humans—one of the great dreams of surgery—was disclosed today.

It has saved one man's life, maybe more. For 50 dramatic minutes, the little steel-glass-and-rubber heart pulsed a patient's blood through his body while surgeons opened his own life engine to fix a bad valve. The left side of his heart was on vacation, empty of blood.

The thrilling success was announced today by Dr. F. D. Dodrill, Dr. Edward Hill and Dr. Robert A. Gerisch, all of Harper Hospital here, in the journal of the American Medical Association.

For years, many surgeons have been trying to develop hearts that would by-pass your own heart, leaving it pulsing but empty of blood so they could open it for new kinds of surgery inside the heart. They could then plug holes in heart walls, repair valves or weak spots in the heart muscle, take out bullets, tumors, or deadened tissue, perhaps some day rescue people whose hearts stop.

The first step now has been taken into this new era.

The spare heart works like a six-cylinder automobile engine, operating on principles used by your own heart's chambers and pumps and valves. Indeed, engineers of General Motors Corp. helped develop this heart, in research supported by the Michigan Heart Association.

The rhythmically-rumbling heart by-passed the left side of a 41-year-old man's heart. Tapping the vein that brings blood from the lungs to the heart, it sucked blood into the machine, and pumped it back into his aorta, the great artery that carries life-giving blood to all tissues of the body. This was done on July 3, and the man, not identified, is alive and much improved today.

Little Woman In 60's Holds Up Calif. Bank

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (AP) — A gray-haired woman in her sixties held up a cashier at a branch of the California Bank today.

She walked sedately up to Teller Marguerite Evert's window and said in a soft voice: "Fill up this bag with money."

"I can't hear you," Miss Evert said.

This time the woman, about 5 feet 3 and 125 pounds, spoke up.

"This gun does my talking for me," she said. "I can use it."

Miss Evert filled the bag with approximately $1,000.

GOP Sees Eisenhower Carrying Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP)—W. Rae Dempsey, Jr., Baltimore City campaign manager for the Republicans, announced tonight that a Republican survey shows that Gen. Eisenhower will carry the city on Nov. 4 by more than 20,000 votes.

Censors Overruled By Baltimore Judge

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Judge S. Ralph Warnken today overruled Maryland censors who had banned five sections of the motion picture "Damaged Lives," and upheld the board on another scene.

The judicial order, filed in Baltimore City Court by Albert L. Sklar as counsel for John Rose, picture exhibitor, further directed that the board "approved and license the motion picture in accordance with this order of court."

The appeal was taken by Rose last Sept. 10 on the ground that deletions ordered by the Maryland State Board of Censors would affect the continuity of the film, make its medically educational purpose meaningless and would cause monetary loss to the exhibitor.

Maryland Voting Age Population Up 4.8%

RICHMOND, Va., Oct 17 (AP) — The Department of Commerce says that the civilian population of those of voting age in Maryland has increased an estimated 4.8 per cent since the last presidential election.

Department figures show that there were 1,498,000 civilians of voting age in the state on Nov. 1, 1948, and there will be an estimated 1,570,000 on Nov. 1 of this year.

The state's vote for presidential electors in 1948 was 596,735, representing 39.8 per cent of the civilian population of voting age at the time.

Democrats Will Rally At Cresaptown Today

A Democratic rally will be held today at 3 p. m. in front of Warner's Cafe at Cresaptown.

George P. Mahoney, candidate for U. S. Senate, and Mrs. Stella B. Werner, candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, will speak.

Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland Jr., said the rally previously was scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Assisting with arrangements are Mrs. Paul M. Umberger and George Martin.

Two Girls Injured In Auto Accident

Two girls were injured Thursday night in an automobile accident on Irons Mountain when the car in which they were passengers went out of control and turned over.

The girls, Jeanette Combs, and Vera Isner, both 14, were reported in "good" condition by attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital. Miss Combs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Combs, 507 Eastern Avenue, sustained a laceration of the right eye, and Miss Isner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Isner, Williams Road, suffered a laceration of the head.

State Police Trooper R. D. Wolford, who investigated, said the car was driven by Richard Lee Isner, 18, of Williams Road. Trooper Wolford said Isner was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed when it went out of control, turned over and landed upside down in a ditch at the side of the road.

Isner, who apparently was injured in the mishap was to report to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday for -rays. No charges have been preferred.

Life of the average road surface in the United States is nearly 12 years.

Vote Republican Elect These Candidates

For President
DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
For Vice President
RICHARD M. NIXON
For United States Senate
J. GLENN BEALL
For Member Of Congress
DEWITT S. HYDE

Welcome To Sparkman, But—

The Cumberland News, traditionally Republican and in this Presidential campaign a staunch supporter of Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Presidency and Dick Nixon for the vice presidency, this morning extends a greeting to John J. Sparkman who, as a United States senator, has won the Democratic nomination for the second spot on his party's ticket.

With the welcome, though, The News would like to ask a question concerning the arrangements made to bring him here. Labor consistently has voiced its opposition to the Taft-Hartley law, and terms it, derogatorily, the slave labor law.

Why, then, would the president of the largest labor union in this section make arrangements for the visit of a man who voted for the Taft-Hartley law, as Mr. Sparkman did? The action seems inconsistent with labor's consistent stand.

The record of the United States Senate shows that on May 13, 1947, Senator Sparkman voted "Yea" as he approved passage of the bill.

True enough, a little more than a month later he voted to go along with President Truman and voted to sustain the President's veto.

But it must be obvious that Senator Sparkman on the first vote cast his ballot as his heart and conscience dictated and later decided to follow the line laid down by President Truman.

Perhaps his decision was dictated by political expediency.

Now let's examine what The American Mercury magazine has to say in a story written by William Bradford Huie who, like Sparkman, grew up in Morgan County, Ala., went to the same high school and the same university.

In the October issue of the magazine there is this reference:

"During his first campaign Sparkman introduced the pore-boy legend and the patched britches as his prime political asset. This drew one retort which has stuck:

"'Sparkman, you'll always have to wear patched britches. Because you'll always be a-bustin' your britches a-tryin' to straddle every fence you come to."

A few paragraphs farther down, Mr. Huie continues:

"In 1946 he ran for an expired Senate term as a pore boy, with the support of farmers and labor. In 1948, with Alabama having joined the Dixiecrat rebellion, Sparkman denounced Truman, came out for Eisenhower, and was elected to a full term . . ."

Then, in a reference to the Taft-Hartley bill, Mr. Huie, who is editor of American Mercury, points out:

". . . He voted for the bill and this brought him telephonic congratulations from Alabama's industrialists and denunciations from Alabama's labor unions. Truman vetoed the bill. Whereupon Sparkman notified his old friends, the labor bosses, that he would shift and vote to sustain the veto. And this he did. This brought him congratulations from the labor unions.

"However, the bill was passed over Truman's veto, and when Alabama's industrialists telephoned to denounce him for his shift, Sparkman appeased them by letting them understand that he had voted to sustain only after making certain that the bill had enough support to be passed over his veto . . ."

So, Mr. Sparkman will visit Cumberland today, the arrangements having been made by the head of the largest union in this section.

Front Is Everywhere

Reading of the loss of a B-29 bomber the other day in the Far East, most persons concluded the Russians would probable charge that the plane had committed a border violation and for that reason was shot down. The Russians have followed through with a formal diplomatic note along that line. They are acting true to form.

The American version of the incident is quite another story. Air Force radar installations on Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese island, were "watching" the bomber flight. The bomber was inside Japanese boundaries at all times and radar observers saw the attack by the Soviet jets develop. The border violation by the red airmen was perfectly clear.

Yet the Russians accuse the dead American fliers of doing the violating and say that the U. S. bomber fired on the Soviet planes. Air Force officers pointing out that the bomber was not armed nor were there any gunners aboard.

This is a clear cut case of attack by the reds, and a border invasion as well. It's too bad the State Department didn't show at least a modicum of gumption and get a protest into diplomatic channels the moment the facts were in from Air Force headquarters in Tokyo. As it is, Washington is now placed on the defensive, propaganda-wise, for although it has the goods on the Rusians, they have turned this advantage to a disadvantage.

This merely points up what American fighting men already know—that the "front" is anywhere Russians and Americans are likely to come in contact with each other. Perhaps in time the State Department will be forced to recognize this fact.

Decline Of Prospecting

That traditional figure, the American prospector, has all but disappeared from the contemporary scene. The government has a standing reward offer for worthwhile discoveries of uranium, but sales of geiger counters, which spurted last year, have slumped badly.

High wages and high availability of jobs has played hob with prospecting. Always an uncertain undertaking with great appeal to the adventurous, prospecting had a brief boom in the 1930s, when thousands of unemployed took to the streams and mountains of the West with pick and pan.

Years have passed since a sizeable gold or silver strike was made in the United States. Old prospectors insist rich ore still is secreted in the rocks and hills, but low prices of gold and silver in comparison with the general price level and high employment have just about eliminated the prospector.

It will cost three times as much to inaugurate the next President as in 1941. Why not just hand him the keys to the White House and tell him to go on in?

Soil Fertility

Many scientists are directing their attention to soil and animal nutrition. The aim is to make every acre capable of producing to its full potential.

Even the most skeptical farmer now appreciates the value of fertilization and the advantage of building up and keeping the soil at high levels. Commercial fertilizers, manure, and crop residue contain the essential nutriments used by plants as food. These substances serve to supplement the chemicals that already exist in the soil. Since the soil and plant tissue can be treated for calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, and other minerals, the farmer is able to measure the balance between soil gains from fertilizers and soil losses by crop removal, bleaching, and erosion. In this respect the agricultural scientist has taken the guesswork out of this phase of farming.

But this is only the beginning. Conflicting claims appear from time to time about the influence of soil fertility on the nutritional quality of crops and animal products. Some say that grain and fruit growing in poor soil have none of the nutritional values of those grown in fertilized soil. Others disagree. The same confusion is present with animals. Good scientific research along this line is sorely needed and many institutions have started on projects that by necessity will take years to finish.

One of the most interesting is under way at the Michigan agricultural experiment station. It was initiated in 1945 and, according to the August issue of Nutrition Reviews, was designed to answer the question, "Does the fertility of the soil affect the nutritive value of the crops, the nutrition of the cow, the nutritive value of the milk, and, ultimately, the health of the consumer?" Ten pairs of heifers were selected and "one of each pair received feed grown on well fertilized soil, the other on the same type of soil which had been severely depleted and unproductive."

Some of the data have been published and we find such statements as: "Yields per acre on the depleted were only half of those from the fertilized soil. . . . Both groups of cows were managed identically. . . . The essential amino acid content of colostrum and milk proteins from the two herds has been analyzed over a two year period and apparently was not affected by the level of soil fertility."

From these studies it is evident that the quality of cow's milk is not related to what the animal eats. This is anticipated because the milk glands obtain their chemicals from existing depots in the body which have been adequate in these particular animals for the length of time the experiment has been carried out. Marked deficiencies may develop, and when this occurs, a decline in milk production and the health of the cow can be expected.

BARBER'S ITCH

H. E. J. writes: My barber claims that the term, barber's itch, is a misnomer and states that the majority of these cases are caused by contamination in the home. Will you please advise?

REPLY

This ringworm infection of the bearded areas is acquired through use of contaminated shaving and toilet articles. I'll not argue whether these are most likely to be found at home, in the barber shop, or elsewhere. All have been implicated in the past. In addition, some physicians believe that the fungus causing athlete's foot can be transmitted to the skin in other areas of the body. But the chances of acquiring the infection in the barber shop are remote if the scissors and other equipment are sterilized between customers. With the cost of haircuts today, this procedure should be possible.

CHOCOLATE

L. W. writes: I like chocolate and eat quite a bit of it. Recently I heard it is not good for anybody. What can you advise?

REPLY

Chocolate is an excellent source of energy and in this respect rates high as a food supplement. But some persons are sensitive to the substance; it causes allergic symptoms in these cases. Victims of acne and other skin disorders may find that it makes the lesions worse. These drawbacks are not enough to condemn chocolate because the majority can eat it without reaction of any kind.

NOSE LESION

J. L. writes: I'm terribly worried about a sore in my nose that I've had for 18 years. What should I do?

REPLY

If you have neglected this lesion, you deserve no sympathy. On the other hand, if you have received the best medical care available, little more can be done about the abnormality except to have it examined periodically to evaluate its status.

SPINAL SPURS

F. N. writes: I have spurs on my spine. Is this a form of arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, if you refer to the pointed, bony growths that appear between the vertebrae. This defect is difficult to evaluate because many individuals with extensive spur formation never are bothered by these lesions.

Banker Upsets Routine Of Ike's Train; Korean War Reports Indicate No Big Push Contemplated; Adlai's Sister Would Like To Be Official Hostess

WASHINGTON — A small eruption took place aboard the Eisenhower train recently over a Boston banker.

He is Brig. Gen. Robert Cutler, president of the Old Colony Trust Co., friend of Senator Cabot Lodge, and put aboard the train as personal aide to Ike and a sort of ambassador for Lodge, who was Ike's first campaign manager.

Because Cutler's duties were undefined, and because he is an energetic gentleman, Cutler soon rose to be a top member of the Eisenhower brain trust. He branched out into speech-writing, sat in on policy sessions, issued pronouncements.

But one morning at 4 o'clock, he routed the speech-writing crew out of their berths, told them they would have to get to work on the next speech, though actually it wasn't due until the next evening.

This was too much. The speechwriters had only just got to bed. They rebelled. Cutler insisted. Finally they told him where to get off, went back to bed.

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, top man in the Eisenhower camp, backed them up. Adams is a small, pleasant person, usually mild-mannered. But when he sticks out his jaw, his face looks like New Hampshire granite.

Adams has now demoted Gen. Cutler. He is seen a lot, less often heard.

Inside Korea

Getting behind the day-to-day headlines here is a summary of the Korean fighting, based on secret Pentagon reports:

The Chinese launched 55 probing attacks against our line in one day last week, then put on the pressure at the weakest point. This happened to be in the Chorwon Valley, where an American division was moving out and a South Korean division moving in. The South Koreans hadn't yet dug in, so the line gave way.

However, the Communist attack failed to penetrate what the Army calls its MRL (main resistance line), but pounded a dent in the OPRL (operations resistance line). In other words, our main defense positions are solidly intact.

Meanwhile, the Chinese have wheeled up an impressive array of field artillery and even frontline anti-aircraft guns. Last week, the Chinese lobbed 200,000 rounds of artillery across the line and for the first time threw flak at our planes up front.

But there are still no signs of a big push—no speed-up of supplies, no massing of reserve troops. The press has reported that the Chinese have moved 16,000 reserves into the battle area. This is not the case. The Chinese have simply been juggling two front-line divisions, not bringing in reserves from the rear.

The Pentagon appraisal is that the Chinese are deliberately bleeding UN troops, knowing our regard for human life. The Chinese also may be trying to straighten out the battle line in order to improve their bargaining position at the conference table, in case truce talks are resumed.

Adlai's Hostess

The lady who would be hostess to bachelor Adlai Stevenson, if elected, his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, got off some cogent comments on politics recently before the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington, D. C.

"The family didn't realize that Adlai was a good story teller until he left home," she quipped. "He never got a chance to talk at home."

Telling how her brother rejected a campaign proposal to make a special radio broadcast to women voters, she continued:

"Adlai reasoned that it would be equally silly to slant a broadcast to barbers, storekeepers, bus drivers, or other vocational groups. No speeches should be written especially for women. They are interested equally wtih men in better working conditions, prices, schools, public welfare, public health, public housing, rural electrification, homes, peace, and other issues."

"Campaigning with Stevenson," she said, "was easy. They tell you where to go, what to do, what to eat, and whom to speak to, but they don't tell you what to say."

Mrs. Stanley Wohl, the presiding officer, later asked Mrs. Ives if she would become hostess to her brother if he were elected. The reply:

"Will I become the White House hostess? Just let Adlai ask me!"

Diplomatic Pouch

Two Bridegrooms—Foreign Minister Anthony Eden promised Marshal Tito during his recent visit to Belgrade that the entire British fleet in the Mediterranean would rush to Yugoslavia's aid in case Russia attacks. Tito in turn told Eden that Yugoslavia now has 26 first-class army divisions and will fight to the death to resist Russia. Tito and Eden got along so well during their conferences that they ran out of problems to discuss and began talking about their new brides.

Atomic Artillery—The army's new 85-ton atomic cannon can travel over highways at 40 miles per hour, shoot more than 20 miles and is so large that the crews in the front and rear talk to each other by radio. The Army finally cut five feet off the barrel and was delighted to find that the guns fired more accurately.

Capital News Capsules

Flying Saucers—A semi-scientific group in Los Angeles, called "civilian saucers investigators," has concluded that flying saucers might be space ships from another planet. This group has reported to the Air Force that several sightings during the last 60 days reveal characteristics that could be expected from space ships. At the outbreak of the flying saucer epidemic, "civilian saucers investigators" worked closely with the Air Force, but now have severed all connections.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The West Virginia Wrangle

Senator Harley Martin Kilgore of West Virginia made his own record as one who has shown an unusually kindly attitude toward Soviet Russia and American Communists during his career in the United States Senate. The choice of friends, associates and causes was his to make.

However, in 1952, when he is a candidate for re-election, that record does not look so good, particularly in print. William Bradford Huie, editor of the "American Mercury" magazine, wrote an article setting forth Senator Kilgore's record. The tone and character of the article may be judged from this paragraph:

"The 12-year Senate record of the Honorable Harley Martin Kilgore is untarnished by any display of independence: he has remained faithful to the party line; he is the favorite senator of the Daily Worker; he looks unblushingly to the Stalin worshippers both for instructions and for money with which to purchase his re-election."

This article, in full, was reprinted in three West Virginia newspapers. His opponent is former Senator Chapman Revercomb who has a formidable anti-Communist record. So their campaign is over the question of communism and of Kilgore's attitude toward the Russians.

"The Charleston Daily Mail" reprinted the Huie article and Kilgore chose to file a suit for libel because of a headline. So far as I know, he has taken no action against anyone else, including the originator of the article. But when a newspaper in a comparatively small city has a $2,000,000 libel suit filed against it, it faces either a catastrophe or a joke. A year ago the aforesaid Kilgore sued another newspaper, the Charleston "Gazette," for $1,000,000, but has permitted it to lie dormant. The idea apparently is to scare the newspapers of West Virginia from publishing data from Kilgore's record.

Meanwhile, his opponent, Chapman Revercomb, challenged Kilgore to debate Huie's charges. Revercomb said:

"Let Kilgore come out on the stump and debate these charges before the people of West Virginia, as I have challenged him to do. Let him answer these charges, if he can, as I have repeatedly dared him to do."

Back in the days of the United Front, when American public officials ate caviar and drank vodka in the Russian embassy and had themselves photographed under the portrait of Joe Stalin, the trio of Claude Pepper of Florida, Glen Taylor of Idaho, and Harley Kilgore of West Virginia were the prominent supporters of what some of us regarded as the Russian line. It would be stupid to call these men Communists or even fellow travellers. The worst that can be said about them is that they were political opportunists who though that there were advantages on the extreme left.

Taylor got himself deeply entangled in the Progressive party, ran for vice president in 1948 with Henry Wallace, destroyed his political career and is now a forgotten man. Claude Pepper was accepted generally as a brilliant mind who outsmarted himself. He was defeated for re-nomination. Kilgore is running this year and may follow his colleagues into limbo.

In 1945, which is long after any intelligent man should have known that Soviet Russia was not the ally of this country but its enemy, Senator Kilgore spoke at a meeting in honor of M. M. Gousev, chairman of Amtorg, the Soviet trading company in this country which also pursued espionage as a sideline. Kilgore said:

"We must lend the Soviet Union every possible financial assistance to accelerate her reconstruction, not only as a matter of justice and sympathy, but also in order to help develop our commercial relations for the benefit of both our people. Fortunately for the world as a whole all the great powers are ardently devoted to safeguarding the peace . . . No reasonable man can doubt that the deepest aspiration of the Soviet Union is lasting peace."

The Charleston Daily Mail," in reply to this, quotes J. Edgar Hoover on the subject of Amtorg:

"Ever since we recognized Russia in 1933, Moscow's spies have been at work. At first they penetrated factories and laboratories, in order to grab our most advanced manufacturing processes. For this purpose, the Amtorg trading corporation, established here to promote trade with the Soviet Union, provided excellent cover. Amtorg officials recruited undercover agents who stole formulas for petroleum products, lacquers, textiles, and industrial chemicals."

Some Democrats think that they can squeeze one more victory out of an alliance with the pinkoes. They ought to lose because Russia is our avowed enemy.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What does President Truman really think about a "military man" for high civilian office, including the Presidency—that is, what does he think when a political campaign isn't going on? For in a campaign, of course, Mr. Truman is against the other political party and its nominee anyhow. There is testimony on the subject of a "military man" for the Presidency from Mr. Truman himself—words and deeds — extending back over the last seven years between campaigns. Here is the record:

1. President Truman has appointed more generals and admirals to administrative posts in the civilian branch of the government—in department, boards and commissions—than any other man in the White House has ever appointed.

2. Mr. Truman has appointed more ambassadors and ministers from the military services to conduct the affairs of the United States abroad than any other president.

Enlightened Policy

3.—Mr. Truman appointed in the critical period following World War II a military man to the highest post in his cabinet—the portfolio of secretary of State under General Marshall, the free world was given the famous Marshall Plan — an economic and not a military program—perhaps the most enlightened piece of international policy in modern history.

4. When the Congress passed a law saying that no one who had been a member of the military services of the United States for at least 10 years prior thereto should be eligible for appointment to the post of secretary of Defense, the object was to keep civilian control predominant in the supervision of our armed services. Mr. Truman in 1950 couldn't find a civilian anywhere in the entire United States whom he thought would be as suitable as General Marshall. So he asked Congress to make an exception and let a military man have the post. Congress complied and the general did a creditable job.

5. Mr. Truman confirmed in a press conference in 1951 a conversation in July 1945 with General Eisenhower when he offered to help the general become President of the United States at the very next Presidential election.

The story of what Mr. Truman thought of a "military man" for president, when he undoubtedly believed the man in question was or could become a Democrat, is told in the book, "Crusade in Europe," by General Eisenhower. The book, incidentally, came out on Nov 22, 1948, just after the election. The general and President Truman were together in Germany in July 1945. The general writes:

"One day when the President was riding with General Bradley and me he fell to discussing the future of some of our war leaders. I told him that I had no ambition except to retire to a quiet home and from there do what little I could to help our people understand some of the great changes the war had brought to the world and the inescabable responsibilities that would devolve upon us all as a result of those changes.

"I shall never forget the President's answer. Up to that time I had met him casually on only two or three occasions. I had breakfasted with him informally and had found him sincere, earnest and a most pleasant person with whom to deal. Now, in the car, he suddenly turned toward me and said: 'General, there is nothing that yo may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the Presidency in 1948.'

Ike Kept His Word

"I doubt that any soldier of our country was ever so suddenly struck in his emotional vitals by a President with such an apparently sincere and certainly astonishing proposition as this. Now and then, in conversation with friends, jocular suggestions had previously been made to me about a possible political career. My reaction was always instant repudiation, but to have the President suddenly throw his broadside into me left me no recourse except to treat it as a very splendid joke, which I hoped it was. I laughed heartily and said: 'Mr. President, I don't know who will be your opponent for the Presidency, but it will not be I.' There was no doubt about my seriousness."

In the book the word "my" is emphasized. General Eisenhower kept his word. For early in 1948 he made public a letter saying that he didn't think himself fitted for the job of President and that "in the absence of some overriding consideration," he didn't think a military man should embark on a political career.

President Truman, on the other hand was not enthusiastic about having anyone else but himself run in 1948. There were many labor leaders, political leaders, liberal spokesmen and a substantial segment of the Democratic party who wanted General Eisenhower to be its candidate. He refused, though the opposition to Mr. Truman was such that, if the general had said the word, he could have had the Democratic nomination and Mr. Truman wouldn't be President today.

With another Presidential election coming up, General Eisenhower discovered there really was an "overriding consideration" in 1952 as he viewed the disunity and discord in the nation—an apparently endless war in Korea a critical situation among our allies in Europe, and, at last but not least, "the mess in Washington." And if the general had only been willing to accept the Democratic Presidential nomination this year—as highly placed Democrats in the Truman administration tried to get him to do—the nation wouldn't be hearing derogatory remarks from either Mr. Truman or Mr. Stevenson about having a "military man" in the White House. The Republicans now would probably be using the same argument.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—Most of us think of the Waldorf Astoria as the last word in chi-chi. But I saw a girl cry there the other night. But only from gratitude.

She was thankful that some people had shown up at the Waldorf for a charity get-together in the name of blindness. This girl, who is beautiful by the way, is blind.

Her name is Mildred Weisenfeld. She is a Brooklyn kid who came down with measles, but in her case the measles affected her eyesight. Her parents tried a host of doctors in this country, trying to stave off blindness, then took the child abroad for the finest available treatment in Switzerland, Germany and France.

But she lost her sight. She resented it, instinctiyely. And as she grew older—she's still young—she began to look into the field of eye diseases. She found that hundreds and hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent every year in this country to take care of people who have lost their sight, but that a comparative pittance is spent in researching the causes of the loss of sight, and the job of preventing loss of sight.

So with a total capital of $8, she started the National Council to Combat Blindness. That was six years ago. There have been a few fun-raising ideas for the thing since then, but nothing to compare with those of other charities that affect the ill, even though nearly as many Americans go blind each year as saw the final game of the 1952 World Series at Ebbets Field.

This roundly neglected charity has given grants to a number of universities. Up till now there have been requests for $150,000 in grants. All the dough that was parleyed through hard work from that original $8 was $30,000. It has been dispensed. The obvious supposition is that there might have been some specialist among those neglected who wanted only $5,000, lets say, to prove that he could intercept blindness in the young and cure it on the spot.

Ran into Dore Schary the other night and asked him if he was worried about television and film imports. Schary is production boss of MGM.

"Not at all," he said. "The two of them have only helped us. We've learned something from each. It will be a long time before we're frightened out of making big pictures. We've just spent $3,000,000 on 'Plymouth Adventure'."

The British are so far ahead of us on jet-propelled commercial air travel that they are concerned with what they should do in 1955 and 1958.

Seems that they consider the Comet I old hat. That's the De Haviland 4-jet plane that has revolutionized air travel.

Comet II and Comet III are much more important and economically attractive than Comet I, and much more salable. These ships will carry more passengers (twice as many in the case of the Comet III and with less consumption of gas.)

The British could sell a lot of Comet I's right now, but have been very rugged about the whole thing. They know they have something a lot better coming along and suggest patience on the part of customers. They will make only a few of the Comet I's, despite their attractive sales price, and rather than foul up the production of what they know is a better type (or better types) they will clear their production lines to construct the Comet II's and Comet III's.

The Purple's Choice

Whether it's the Fair Deal, the New Deal or the Square Deal it will go down in hysteria as the deal that's always dealing.

An old gamboleer's advice to his heirs was, "Always cut the cards. You won't win but you'll last longer."

Just about two weeks of active promising left. The only thing the candidates have overlooked is taxes. That's a moot subject that's mute.

The boys have accused one another of everything in the book including the glossary and the appendix.

I was also accusing them of going at it tack hammer and sugar tongs. Suddenly they started swinging both hands to the records.

Vote Republican Elect These Candidates

For President
DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
For Vice President
RICHARD M. NIXON
For United States Senate
J. GLENN BEALL
For Member Of Congress
DEWITT S. HYDE

Welcome To Sparkman, But—

The Cumberland News, traditionally Republican and in this Presidential campaign a staunch supporter of Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Presidency and Dick Nixon for the vice presidency, this morning extends a greeting to John J. Sparkman who, as a United States senator, has won the Democratic nomination for the second spot on his party's ticket.

With the welcome, though, The News would like to ask a question concerning the arrangements made to bring him here. Labor consistently has voiced its opposition to the Taft-Hartley law, and terms it, derogatorily, the slave labor law.

Why, then, would the president of the largest labor union in this section make arrangements for the visit of a man who voted for the Taft-Hartley law, as Mr. Sparkman did? The action seems inconsistent with labor's consistent stand.

The record of the United States Senate shows that on May 13, 1947, Senator Sparkman voted "Yea" as he approved passage of the bill.

True enough, a little more than a month later he voted to go along with President Truman and voted to sustain the President's veto.

But it must be obvious that Senator Sparkman on the first vote cast his ballot as his heart and conscience dictated and later decided to follow the line laid down by President Truman.

Perhaps his decision was dictated by political expediency.

Now let's examine what The American Mercury magazine has to say in a story written by William Bradford Huie who, like Sparkman, grew up in Morgan County, Ala., went to the same high school and the same university.

In the October issue of the magazine there is this reference:

"During his first campaign Sparkman introduced the pore-boy legend and the patched britches as his prime political asset. This drew one retort which has stuck:

"'Sparkman, you'll always have to wear patched britches. Because you'll always be a-bustin' your britches a-tryin' to straddle every fence you come to."

A few paragraphs farther down, Mr. Huie continues:

"In 1946 he ran for an expired Senate term as a pore boy, with the support of farmers and labor. In 1948, with Alabama having joined the Dixiecrat rebellion, Sparkman denounced Truman, came out for Eisenhower, and was elected to a full term . . ."

Then, in a reference to the Taft-Hartley bill, Mr. Huie, who is editor of American Mercury, points out:

". . . He voted for the bill and this brought him telephonic congratulations from Alabama's industrialists and denunciations from Alabama's labor unions. Truman vetoed the bill. Whereupon Sparkman notified his old friends, the labor bosses, that he would shift and vote to sustain the veto. And this he did. This brought him congratulations from the labor unions.

"However, the bill was passed over Truman's veto, and when Alabama's industrialists telephoned to denounce him for his shift, Sparkman appeased them by letting them understand that he had voted to sustain only after making certain that the bill had enough support to be passed over his veto . . ."

So, Mr. Sparkman will visit Cumberland today, the arrangements having been made by the head of the largest union in this section.

Front Is Everywhere

Reading of the loss of a B-29 bomber the other day in the Far East, most persons concluded the Russians would probable charge that the plane had committed a border violation and for that reason was shot down. The Russians have followed through with a formal diplomatic note along that line. They are acting true to form.

The American version of the incident is quite another story. Air Force radar installations on Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese island, were "watching" the bomber flight. The bomber was inside Japanese boundaries at all times and radar observers saw the attack by the Soviet jets develop. The border violation by the red airmen was perfectly clear.

Yet the Russians accuse the dead American fliers of doing the violating and say that the U. S. bomber fired on the Soviet planes. Air Force officers pointing out that the bomber was not armed nor were there any gunners aboard.

This is a clear cut case of attack by the reds, and a border invasion as well. It's too bad the State Department didn't show at least a modicum of gumption and get a protest into diplomatic channels the moment the facts were in from Air Force headquarters in Tokyo. As it is, Washington is now placed on the defensive, propaganda-wise, for although it has the goods on the Rusians, they have turned this advantage to a disadvantage.

This merely points up what American fighting men already know—that the "front" is anywhere Russians and Americans are likely to come in contact with each other. Perhaps in time the State Department will be forced to recognize this fact.

Decline Of Prospecting

That traditional figure, the American prospector, has all but disappeared from the contemporary scene. The government has a standing reward offer for worthwhile discoveries of uranium, but sales of geiger counters, which spurted last year, have slumped badly.

High wages and high availability of jobs has played hob with prospecting. Always an uncertain undertaking with great appeal to the adventurous, prospecting had a brief boom in the 1930s, when thousands of unemployed took to the streams and mountains of the West with pick and pan.

Years have passed since a sizeable gold or silver strike was made in the United States. Old prospectors insist rich ore still is secreted in the rocks and hills, but low prices of gold and silver in comparison with the general price level and high employment have just about eliminated the prospector.

It will cost three times as much to inaugurate the next President as in 1941. Why not just hand him the keys to the White House and tell him to go on in?

Soil Fertility

Many scientists are directing their attention to soil and animal nutrition. The aim is to make every acre capable of producing to its full potential.

Even the most skeptical farmer now appreciates the value of fertilization and the advantage of building up and keeping the soil at high levels. Commercial fertilizers, manure, and crop residue contain the essential nutriments used by plants as food. These substances serve to supplement the chemicals that already exist in the soil. Since the soil and plant tissue can be treated for calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, and other minerals, the farmer is able to measure the balance between soil gains from fertilizers and soil losses by crop removal, bleaching, and erosion. In this respect the agricultural scientist has taken the guesswork out of this phase of farming.

But this is only the beginning. Conflicting claims appear from time to time about the influence of soil fertility on the nutritional quality of crops and animal products. Some say that grain and fruit growing in poor soil have none of the nutritional values of those grown in fertilized soil. Others disagree. The same confusion is present with animals. Good scientific research along this line is sorely needed and many institutions have started on projects that by necessity will take years to finish.

One of the most interesting is under way at the Michigan agricultural experiment station. It was initiated in 1945 and, according to the August issue of Nutrition Reviews, was designed to answer the question, "Does the fertility of the soil affect the nutritive value of the crops, the nutrition of the cow, the nutritive value of the milk, and, ultimately, the health of the consumer?" Ten pairs of heifers were selected and "one of each pair received feed grown on well fertilized soil, the other on the same type of soil which had been severely depleted and unproductive."

Some of the data have been published and we find such statements as: "Yields per acre on the depleted were only half of those from the fertilized soil....Both groups of cows were managed identically. ....The essential amino acid content of colostrum and milk proteins from the two herds has been analyzed over a two year period and apparently was not affected by the level of soil fertility."

From these studies it is evident that the quality of cow's milk is not related to what the animal eats. This is anticipated because the milk glands obtain their chemicals from existing depots in the body which have been adequate in these particular animals for the length of time the experiment has been carried out. Marked deficiencies may develop, and when this occurs, a decline in milk production and the health of the cow can be expected.

BARBER'S ITCH

H. E. J. writes: My barber claims that the term, barber's itch, is a misnomer and states that the majority of these cases are caused by contamination in the home. Will you please advise?

REPLY

This ringworm infection of the bearded areas is acquired through use of contaminated shaving and toilet articles. I'll not argue whether these are most likely to be found at home, in the barber shop, or elsewhere. All have been implicated in the past. In addition, some physicians believe that the fungus causing athlete's foot can be transmitted to the skin in other areas of the body. But the chances of acquiring the infection in the barber shop are remote if the scissors and other equipment are sterilized between customers. With the cost of haircuts today, this procedure should be possible.

CHOCOLATE

L. W. writes: I like chocolate and eat quite a bit of it. Recently I heard it is not good for anybody. What can you advise?

REPLY

Chocolate is an excellent source of energy and in this respect rates high as a food supplement. But some persons are sensitive to the substance; it causes allergic symptoms in these cases. Victims of acne and other skin disorders may find that it makes the lesions worse. These drawbacks are not enough to condemn chocolate because the majority can eat it without reaction of any kind.

NOSE LESION

J. L. writes: I'm terribly worried about a sore in my nose that I've had for 18 years. What should I do?

REPLY

If you have neglected this lesion, you deserve no sympathy. On the other hand, if you have received the best medical care available, little more can be done about the abnormality except to have it examined periodically to evaluate its status.

SPINAL SPURS

F. N. writes: I have spurs on my spine. Is this a form of arthritis?

REPLY

Yes, if you refer to the pointed, bony growths that appear between the vertebrae. This defect is difficult to evaluate because many individuals with extensive spur formation never are bothered by these lesions.

Banker Upsets Routine Of Ike's Train; Korean War Reports Indicate No Big Push Contemplated; Adlai's Sister Would Like To Be Official Hostess

WASHINGTON — A small eruption took place aboard the Eisenhower train recently over a Boston banker.

He is Brig. Gen. Robert Cutler, president of the Old Colony Trust Co., friend of Senator Cabot Lodge, and put aboard the train as personal aide to Ike and a sort of ambassador for Lodge, who was Ike's first campaign manager.

Because Cutler's duties were undefined, and because he is an energetic gentleman, Cutler soon rose to be a top member of the Eisenhower brain trust. He branched out into speech-writing, sat in on policy sessions, issued pronouncements.

But one morning at 4 o'clock, he routed the speech-writing crew out of their berths, told them they would have to get to work on the next speech, though actually it wasn't due until the next evening.

This was too much. The speechwriters had only just got to bed. They rebelled. Cutler insisted. Finally they told him where to get off, went back to bed.

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, top man in the Eisenhower camp, backed them up. Adams is a small, pleasant person, usually mild-mannered. But when he sticks out his jaw, his face looks like New Hampshire granite.

Adams has now demoted Gen. Cutler. He is seen a lot, less often heard.

Inside Korea

Getting behind the day-to-day headlines here is a summary of the Korean fighting, based on secret Pentagon reports:

The Chinese launched 55 probing attacks against our line in one day last week, then put on the pressure at the weakest point. This happened to be in the Chorwon Valley, where an American division was moving out and a South Korean division moving in. The South Koreans hadn't yet dug in, so the line gave way.

However, the Communist attack failed to penetrate what the Army calls its MRL (main resistance line), but pounded a dent in the OPRL (operations resistance line). In other words, our main defense positions are solidly intact.

Meanwhile, the Chinese have wheeled up an impressive array of field artillery and even frontline anti-aircraft guns. Last week, the Chinese lobbed 200,000 rounds of artillery across the line and for the first time threw flak at our planes up front.

But there are still no signs of a big push—no speed-up of supplies, no massing of reserve troops. The press has reported that the Chinese have moved 16,000 reserves into the battle area. This is not the case. The Chinese have simply been juggling two front-line divisions, not bringing in reserves from the rear.

The Pentagon appraisal is that the Chinese are deliberately bleeding UN troops, knowing our regard for human life. The Chinese also may be trying to straighten out the battle line in order to improve their bargaining position at the conference table, in case truce talks are resumed.

Adlai's Hostess

The lady who would be hostess to bachelor Adlai Stevenson, if elected, his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, got off some cogent comments on politics recently before the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington, D. C.

"The family didn't realize that Adlai was a good story teller until he left home," she quipped. "He never got a chance to talk at home."

Telling how her brother rejected a campaign proposal to make a special radio broadcast to women voters, she continued:

"Adlai reasoned that it would be equally silly to slant a broadcast to barbers, storekeepers, bus drivers, or other vocational groups. No speeches should be written especially for women. They are interested equally wtih men in better working conditions, prices, schools, public welfare, public health, public housing, rural electrification, homes, peace, and other issues."

"Campaigning with Stevenson," she said, "was easy. They tell you where to go, what to do, what to eat, and whom to speak to, but they don't tell you what to say."

Mrs. Stanley Wohl, the presiding officer, later asked Mrs. Ives if she would become hostess to her brother if he were elected. The reply:

"Will I become the White House hostess? Just let Adlai ask me!"

Diplomatic Pouch

Two Bridegrooms—Foreign Minister Anthony Eden promised Marshal Tito during his recent visit to Belgrade that the entire British fleet in the Mediterranean would rush to Yugoslavia's aid in case Russia attacks. Tito in turn told Eden that Yugoslavia now has 26 first-class army divisions and will fight to the death to resist Russia. Tito and Eden got along so well during their conferences that they ran out of problems to discuss and began talking about their new brides.

Atomic Artillery—The army's new 85-ton atomic cannon can travel over highways at 40 miles per hour, shoot more than 20 miles and is so large that the crews in the front and rear talk to each other by radio. The Army finally cut five feet off the barrel and was delighted to find that the guns fired more accurately.

Capital News Capsules

Flying Saucers—A semi-scientific group in Los Angeles, called "civilian saucers investigators," has concluded that flying saucers might be space ships from another planet. This group has reported to the Air Force that several sightings during the last 60 days reveal characteristics that could be expected from space ships. At the outbreak of the flying saucer epidemic, "civilian saucers investigators" worked closely with the Air Force, but now have severed all connections.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The West Virginia Wrangle

Senator Harley Martin Kilgore of West Virginia made his own record as one who has shown an unusually kindly attitude toward Soviet Russia and American Communists during his career in the United States Senate. The choice of friends, associates and causes was his to make.

However, in 1952, when he is a candidate for re-election, that record does not look so good, particularly in print. William Bradford Huie, editor of the "American Mercury" magazine, wrote an article setting forth Senator Kilgore's record. The tone and character of the article may be judged from this paragraph:

"The 12-year Senate record of the Honorable Harley Martin Kilgore is untarnished by any display of independence: he has remained faithful to the party line; he is the favorite senator of the Daily Worker; he looks unblushingly to the Stalin worshippers both for instructions and for money with which to purchase his re-election."

This article, in full, was reprinted in three West Virginia newspapers. His opponent is former Senator Chapman Revercomb who has a formidable anti-Communist record. So their campaign is over the question of communism and of Kilgore's attitude toward the Russians.

"The Charleston Daily Mail" reprinted the Huie article and Kilgore chose to file a suit for libel because of a headline. So far as I know, he has taken no action against anyone else, including the originator of the article. But when a newspaper in a comparatively small city has a $2,000,000 libel suit filed against it, it faces either a catastrophe or a joke. A year ago the aforesaid Kilgore sued another newspaper, the Charleston "Gazette," for $1,000,000, but has permitted it to lie dormant. The idea apparently is to scare the newspapers of West Virginia from publishing data from Kilgore's record.

Meanwhile, his opponent, Chapman Revercomb, challenged Kilgore to debate Huie's charges. Revercomb said:

"Let Kilgore come out on the stump and debate these charges before the people of West Virginia, as I have challenged him to do. Let him answer these charges, if he can, as I have repeatedly dared him to do."

Back in the days of the United Front, when American public officials ate caviar and drank vodka in the Russian embassy and had themselves photographed under the portrait of Joe Stalin, the trio of Claude Pepper of Florida, Glen Taylor of Idaho, and Harley Kilgore of West Virginia were the prominent supporters of what some of us regarded as the Russian line. It would be stupid to call these men Communists or even fellow travellers. The worst that can be said about them is that they were political opportunists who though that there were advantages on the extreme left.

Taylor got himself deeply entangled in the Progressive party, ran for vice president in 1948 with Henry Wallace, destroyed his political career and is now a forgotten man. Claude Pepper was accepted generally as a brilliant mind who outsmarted himself. He was defeated for re-nomination. Kilgore is running this year and may follow his colleagues into limbo.

In 1945, which is long after any intelligent man should have known that Soviet Russia was not the ally of this country but its enemy, Senator Kilgore spoke at a meeting in honor of M. M. Gousev, chairman of Amtorg, the Soviet trading company in this country which also pursued espionage as a sideline. Kilgore said:

"We must lend the Soviet Union every possible financial assistance to accelerate her reconstruction, not only as a matter of justice and sympathy, but also in order to help develop our commercial relations for the benefit of both our people. Fortunately for the world as a whole all the great powers are ardently devoted to safeguarding the peace . . . No reasonable man can doubt that the deepest aspiration of the Soviet Union is lasting peace."

The Charleston Daily Mail," in reply to this, quotes J. Edgar Hoover on the subject of Amtorg:

"Ever since we recognized Russia in 1933, Moscow's spies have been at work. At first they penetrated factories and laboratories, in order to grab our most advanced manufacturing processes. For this purpose, the Amtorg trading corporation, established here to promote trade with the Soviet Union, provided excellent cover. Amtorg officials recruited undercover agents who stole formulas for petroleum products, lacquers, textiles, and industrial chemicals."

Some Democrats think that they can squeeze one more victory out of an alliance with the pinkoes. They ought to lose because Russia is our avowed enemy.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What does President Truman really think about a "military man" for high civilian office, including the Presidency—that is, what does he think when a political campaign isn't going on? For in a campaign, of course, Mr. Truman is against the other political party and its nominee anyhow. There is testimony on the subject of a "military man" for the Presidency from Mr. Truman himself—words and deeds — extending back over the last seven years between campaigns. Here is the record:

1. President Truman has appointed more generals and admirals to administrative posts in the civilian branch of the government—in department, boards and commissions—than any other man in the White House has ever appointed.

2. Mr. Truman has appointed more ambassadors and ministers from the military services to conduct the affairs of the United States abroad than any other president.

Enlightened Policy

3.—Mr. Truman appointed in the critical period following World War II a military man to the highest post in his cabinet—the portfolio of secretary of State under General Marshall, the free world was given the famous Marshall Plan — an economic and not a military program—perhaps the most enlightened piece of international policy in modern history.

4. When the Congress passed a law saying that no one who had been a member of the military services of the United States for at least 10 years prior thereto should be eligible for appointment to the post of secretary of Defense, the object was to keep civilian control predominant in the supervision of our armed services. Mr. Truman in 1950 couldn't find a civilian anywhere in the entire United States whom he thought would be as suitable as General Marshall. So he asked Congress to make an exception and let a military man have the post. Congress complied and the general did a creditable job.

5. Mr. Truman confirmed in a press conference in 1951 a conversation in July 1945 with General Eisenhower when he offered to help the general become President of the United States at the very next Presidential election.

The story of what Mr. Truman thought of a "military man" for president, when he undoubtedly believed the man in question was or could become a Democrat, is told in the book, "Crusade in Europe," by General Eisenhower. The book, incidentally, came out on Nov 22, 1948, just after the election. The general and President Truman were together in Germany in July 1945. The general writes:

"One day when the President was riding with General Bradley and me he fell to discussing the future of some of our war leaders. I told him that I had no ambition except to retire to a quiet home and from there do what little I could to help our people understand some of the great changes the war had brought to the world and the inescapable responsibilities that would devolve upon us all as a result of those changes.

"I shall never forget the President's answer. Up to that time I had met him casually on only two or three occasions. I had breakfasted with him informally and had found him sincere, earnest and a most pleasant person with whom to deal. Now, in the car, he suddenly turned toward me and said: 'General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the Presidency in 1948.'

Ike Kept His Word

"I doubt that any soldier of our country was ever so suddenly struck in his emotional vitals by a President with such an apparently sincere and certainly astonishing proposition as this. Now and then, in conversation with friends, jocular suggestions had previously been made to me about a possible political career. My reaction was always instant repudiation, but to have the President suddenly throw his broadside into me left me no recourse except to treat it as a very splendid joke, which I hoped it was. I laughed heartily and said: 'Mr. President, I don't know who will be your opponent for the Presidency, but it will not be I.' There was no doubt about my seriousness."

In the book the word "my" is emphasized. General Eisenhower kept his word. For early in 1948 he made public a letter saying that he didn't think himself fitted for the job of President and that "in the absence of some overriding consideration," he didn't think a military man should embark on a political career.

President Truman, on the other hand was not enthusiastic about having anyone else but himself run in 1948. There were many labor leaders, political leaders, liberal spokesmen and a substantial segment of the Democratic party who wanted General Eisenhower to be its candidate. He refused, though the opposition to Mr. Truman was such that, if the general had said the word, he could have had the Democratic nomination and Mr. Truman wouldn't be President today.

With another Presidential election coming up, General Eisenhower discovered there really was an "overriding consideration" in 1952 as he viewed the disunity and discord in the nation—an apparently endless war in Korea a critical situation among our allies in Europe, and, at last but not least, "the mess in Washington." And if the general had only been willing to accept the Democratic Presidential nomination this year—as highly placed Democrats in the Truman administration tried to get him to do—the nation wouldn't be hearing derogatory remarks from either Mr. Truman or Mr. Stevenson about having a "military man" in the White House. The Republicans now would probably be using the same argument.

Her parents tried a host of doctors in this country, trying to stave off blindness, then took the child abroad for the finest available treatment in Switzerland, Germany and France.

But she lost her sight. She resented it, instinctiyely. And as she grew older—she's still young—she began to look into the field of eye diseases. She found that hundreds and hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent every year in this country to take care of people who have lost their sight, but that a comparative pittance is spent in researching the causes of the loss of sight, and the job of preventing loss of sight.

So with a total capital of $8, she started the National Council to Combat Blindness. That was six years ago. There have been a few fun-raising ideas for the thing since then, but nothing to compare with those of other charities that affect the ill, even though nearly as many Americans go blind each year as saw the final game of the 1952 World Series at Ebbets Field.

This roundly neglected charity has given grants to a number of universities. Up till now there have been requests for $150,000 in grants. All the dough that was parleyed through hard work from that original $8 was $30,000. It has been dispensed. The obvious supposition is that there might have been some specialist among those neglected who wanted only $5,000, lets say, to prove that he could intercept blindness in the young and cure it on the spot.

Ran into Dore Schary the other night and asked him if he was worried about television and film imports. Schary is production boss of MGM.

"Not at all," he said. "The two of them have only helped us. We've learned something from each. It will be a long time before we're frightened out of making big pictures. We've just spent $3,000,000 on 'Plymouth Adventure'."

The British are so far ahead of us on jet-propelled commercial air travel that they are concerned with what they should do in 1955 and 1958.

Seems that they consider the Comet I old hat. That's the De Haviland 4-jet plane that has revolutionized air travel.

Comet II and Comet III are much more important and economically attractive than Comet I, and much more salable. These ships will carry more passengers (twice as many in the case of the Comet III and with less consumption of gas.)

The British could sell a lot of Comet I's right now, but have been very rugged about the whole thing. They know they have something a lot better coming along and suggest patience on the part of customers. They will make only a few of the Comet I's, despite their attractive sales price, and rather than foul up the production of what they know is a better type (or better types) they will clear their production lines to construct the Comet II's and Comet III's.

The Purple's Choice

Whether it's the Fair Deal, the New Deal or the Square Deal it will go down in hysteria as the deal that's always dealing.

An old gamboleer's advice to his heirs was, "Always cut the cards. You won't win but you'll last longer."

Just about two weeks of active promising left. The only thing the candidates have overlooked is taxes. That's a moot subject that's mute.

The boys have accused one another of everything in the book including the glossary and the appendix.

I was also accusing them of going at it tack hammer and sugar tongs. Suddenly they started swinging both hands to the records.

If everything they say about each other is true, I'm astonished they're running on their right names.

News Cameraman Shows Highspots Of Industrial Parade

FLOAT HONORS BLOOD PROGRAM — A float sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks depicting the Allegany County Blood Donor Program, is shown as it appeared in last night's industrial parade. Covered in pure white, the float shows two nurses administering a pint of blood plasma to a patient lying on a cot. The Elks float was one of about 20 in last night's huge five-section review which drew from 75,000 to 100,000 people along the three-mile line of march between Baltimore and Fifth streets.

CELANESE STYLE SHOW—This picture shows that men and Boy Scouts like style shows too. A full house was on hand for this presentation in the St. George Motor Company showroom. All of the garments modeled contained some products of the Celanese Corporation of America. The models are featuring a mother-daughter combination. Style shows will continue today.

SMALL-SCALE BREWERY—One of the featured attractions at the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition in the State Armory is small-scale brewery arranged by the Cumberland Brewing Company. This model arrangement produces a barrel of beer every eight hours. Crowds gathered around this display during much of each day are proof of the popularity of the exhibit.

First District MFWC To Hear Federation Chairman

Mrs. Roy D. Whitlock, Baltimore, is to be the guest speaker at the semi-annual meeting of the First District Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, October 29 in Oakland. Mrs. William A. Douglas will preside and Mrs. Harry R. Christopher will be honor guest.

"America and You" is the topic of Mrs. Whitlock's talk. She is a former president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, and present chairman of Legislation of the General Federation. She has held office in the Woman's Club of Catonsville and served as president of the Baltimore district.

Mrs. Whitlock served as Veterans chairman in the administration of Mrs. Hiram Houghton, of the Federal Federation of Women's Clubs; as president of the Women's Association of the Baltimore Symphony and is active in many civic organizations in Baltimore. A graduate of William and Mary College, she was president of the Woman's Club of Essex, Va.; prominent in the Virginia State Federation and executive secretary of the Virginia Cancer Foundation, before coming to Baltimore.

Mrs. Christopher, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, served as president of the Woman's Club of Linthicum Heights for two terms; president of the Fourth District of the Maryland Federation for two years; and corresponding secretary for the Maryland Federation for two years.

The Oakland Civic Club is hostess for the meeting, being held in the lecture hall of Grace Lutheran Church, Second Street. Registration will be held at 10:30 and the meeting at 11, when all chairmen will give reports and club presidents outline their programs for the year.

Mrs. Frederick W. Thayer Jr. is arranging the musical part of the program, which includes a group of numbers by the Choral Group of the Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland.

Luncheon will be served at 1 p. m., at the William James Hotel. Reservations should be made with Mrs. A. W. Keight, 951 Braddock Road, before October 25. Anyone wishing to stay overnight in Oakland is asked to contact Mrs. Grover Stemple, Alder Street, Oakland.

Rowe-Schwab Team Leads WG Field

Clyde Rowe and Richard Schwab were North-South; and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Castelle, East-West winners in the special Winners Game of the Western Maryland Bridge Association, Thursday night.

Forty-six players in a 12 table straight Mitchell playing 24 boards North-South and 22 boards, East-West featured the winners section at the final session at the Cumberland Country Club, for the season.

The Rowe-Schwab team with 146 plus and an average of 61 percent won top honors, North-South and led the field; second with 141 and an average of 58.8 were C. C. Dehaven and John Moberly; third, with 135 and 56.3, Mrs. John Schaidt, Mrs. Charles Helmrich; fourth, with 129 plus and 53.9 were H. G. Shores and Robert Dezen; fifth with 125 plus and 51.5, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGreevy.

East-West winners with 131 and 59.5 were Dr. and Mrs. Castelle; second with 124 and 56.4, John E. Sell, Theodore Gray; third, 120 and 54.5, Hugo Keller, A. J. Feigus; fourth, with 117 and 53.2 William Gilchrist, A. D. Heacox; fifth, with 114 and 51.4 Mrs. W. A. Douglas and Miss Rose Jackson.

All winners will receive two full Master Points and Master Point awards will be given to fifth place.

In Section B there were nine tables in a straight Mitchell movement, with a top of eight on each board and an average of 108. North and South first place winners with 136 and an average of 63.3 were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger; second, Mark Lazarus Jr., Robert Matthews; third, Mrs. Eugene Gunning, John Schaidt. East-West first place winners and top pair in the field of 36 players were J. D. Paddleford, Brother Joseph with 142 plus and an average of 66.3; second, Mrs. Roy Drumm, Mrs. George Ward; third, Mrs. Margaret Sloan, Miss Jennie Graham.

Both North-South and East-West winners qualified for the Winners game, November 20 at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

All bridge players are invited to play in the Open Pair championship of the Potomac Valley Bridge Club, October 21 at the Fort Cumberland. October 23 will be a Full Master Point night and the fourth session of the October series.

Tandem Club Organized, Plans Dance

A married couples club, to be known as the Tandem Club, was organized Thursday night in the Emmanuel Episcopal Church parish house.

Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector, appointed Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Sykes, temporary presidents, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Darby Jr., temporary secretaries of the new club.

In the future the club plans to meet the fourth Wednesday of each month.

As its first program the club voted to hold a square dance in the parish house from 8 until 11 p. m. October 22. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Wills and Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson Smith will be in charge of the program for the first activity.

University Alumni, Wives Being Honored At Parties

Continuing the Washington-Lee Alumni social activities, an informal get-together for almuni of both W and L and West Virginia and their wives is being held today immediately following the game. It will be in the Old Herman room of the Queen City Brewery.

Upper Potomac Chapter of W and L also sponsored a dance for the two alumni last evening at the Cumberland Country Club. Music was by Tommy Smithers and his orchestra. A number of cocktail parties preceded the dance.

Visiting alumni are especially invited to the Cumberland Country Club dance tonight at the club.

The W and L committee in charge of its activities is John W. McClure Jr., John W. Barger, Keyser and William L. Wilson Jr.

Children To Parade In Afternoon

An innovation in the preparation for the Halloween Jamboree was the chief topic discussed at the meeting of the executive comittee of the Mount Royal PTA.

The Jamboree is being held October 24 at the school, with skits, sales, prizes and moving pictures.

This year, contrary to previous custom, the parade of costumed children is taking place during the afternoon school time, instead of during the evening festivities. Prizes will be awarded as usual to those wearing the funniest, most unusual, prettiest, ugliest and most original costume.

Children may wear their costumes during the evening if they choose to do so.

Mrs. Robert Lord, PTA president, announced Henry Holzshu is the new Safety chairman. He replaces Mr. Lord, who has been transferred to Baltimore. Since Mrs. Lord will soon be moving there too, the selection of a new president was discussed.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If you cook with gas, be sure to be certain the pilot light is burning before you turn on the gas to be lighted from it. Also remember to open door before lighting the oven.

Women Urged To Observe Americanism

At the Americanism program of the Woman's Civic Club meeting Mrs. Charles L. Kopp urged members to do something for Americanism November 4, by assuming responsibility for one other voter's presence at the polls.

A letter from Miss Mary Walsh thanking the club for new draperies for the library auditorium was read. Mrs. William M. Somerville introduced the new members. They are Mrs. Edward G. Monaghan, Mrs. Edward W. Dove, Mrs. A. W. Tindal, Mrs. Harold Watson, Mrs. J. Richard Kendall, Mrs. John Nierman and Mrs. Raymond MacDonald. Committee chairmen reported.

Mrs. Lloyd R. Meyers introduced Rev. Paul V. Taylor, Ph.D., D. D., Zion Reformed Church, Frostburg, who spent 26 years in China as an educator and missionary. Discussing "Women in China and Their Work," he spoke of their work under the burden of the Red China iron curtain. Mrs. Albert Heacox, Mrs. William Ludman and Mrs. Thomas Hinds sang with Mrs. Herbert Platt at the piano.

Girl Scout Week To Open At Special Service Oct. 26

Local observance of Girl Scout Week, October 26 through November 1, will begin with a Girl Scout Sunday program October 26. It is to be held in the city hall auditorium from 3 until 4 o'clock.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive director of the Cumberland Council, is serving as mistress of ceremonies. The program opens with a color ceremony with Cresaptown Troop 11 as color guard. Group singing of the "Hymn of Scouting," and "Girl Scouts Together," is being conducted by Mrs. Robert M. Mann. Patricia Smith will be at the piano.

Speakers representing the three faiths will each develop a theme of the three-fold Girl Scout Promise. They are Rev. H. M. Richardson, of Emmanuel Episcopal Church; Rabbi Samuel Uman, B'er Chayim Temple; and Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M.Cap., SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

A candlelight ceremony will be conducted by girls of LaVale Troop 5, assisted by girls from Ridgeley Troop 7 and Cumberland Troop 10. The service will conclude with taps.

The service which is for all Girl Scouts and adults interested in scouting, is open to the public, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, temporary chairman of the Program committee.

Dorcas Class Re-Elects Officers

The Dorcas Bible Class of Methodist Emmanuel Church re-elected officers at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Stella Irons, Spring Gap. Mrs. Dora Richard presided.

Serving again this year are Mrs. Alice Trout, president; Mrs. Dora Richard, vice president; Mrs. Bessie Keller, treasurer and Mrs. Cecelia Kreiger, secretary.

Devotions opened with hymns, the Scripture was read by Mrs. Laura Smith and prayer by Rev. Kenneth Grove, who also spoke briefly. After benediction refreshments were served.

Others present were Mrs. Dorothy Grove, Mrs. Annie Zimmerly, Mrs. Ada Parker, Mrs. Florence Crites, Mrs. Mary Maphis, Mrs. Bertha Cover, Mrs. Susan Malone, Earl Irons, Robert Maphis, Donald Irons and Anita Jean Crites.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Kathleen McCulloh, Birmingham, Ala., a former resident, is here the guest of Mrs. Samuel McCulloh, Bowery Street, and other Frostburg friends and relatives.

Population of Iceland averages approximately three persons per square mile.

University Alumni, Wives Being Honored At Parties

Continuing the Washington-Lee Alumni social activities, an informal get-together for almuni of both W and L and West Virginia and their wives is being held today immediately following the game. It will be in the Old Herman room of the Queen City Brewery.

Upper Potomac Chapter of W and L also sponsored a dance for the two alumni last evening at the Cumberland Country Club. Music was by Tommy Smithers and his orchestra. A number of cocktail parties preceded the dance.

Visiting alumni are especially invited to the Cumberland Country Club dance tonight at the club.

The W and L committee in charge of its activities is John W. McClure Jr., John W. Barger, Keyser and William L. Wilson Jr.

Children To Parade In Afternoon

An innovation in the preparation for the Halloween Jamboree was the chief topic discussed at the meeting of the executive comittee of the Mount Royal PTA.

The Jamboree is being held October 24 at the school, with skits, sales, prizes and moving pictures.

This year, contrary to previous custom, the parade of costumed children is taking place during the afternoon school time, instead of during the evening festivities. Prizes will be awarded as usual to those wearing the funniest, most unusual, prettiest, ugliest and most original costume.

Children may wear their costumes during the evening if they choose to do so.

Mrs. Robert Lord, PTA president, announced Henry Holzshu is the new Safety chairman. He replaces Mr. Lord, who has been transferred to Baltimore. Since Mrs. Lord will soon be moving there too, the selection of a new president was discussed.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If you cook with gas, be sure to be certain the pilot light is burning before you turn on the gas to be lighted from it. Also remember to open door before lighting the oven.

WomenUrged To Observe Americanism

At the Americanism program of the Woman's Civic Club meeting Mrs. Charles L. Kopp urged members to do something for Americanism November 4, by assuming responsibility for one other voter's presence at the polls.

A letter from Miss Mary Walsh thanking the club for new draperies for the library auditorium was read. Mrs. William M. Somerville introduced the new members. They are Mrs. Edward G. Monaghan, Mrs. Edward W. Dove, Mrs. A. W. Tindal, Mrs. Harold Watson, Mrs. J. Richard Kendall, Mrs. John Nierman and Mrs. Raymond MacDonald. Committee chairmen reported.

Mrs. Lloyd R. Meyers introduced Rev. Paul V. Taylor, Ph.D., D. D., Zion Reformed Church, Frostburg, who spent 26 years in China as an educator and missionary. Discussing "Women in China and Their Work," he spoke of their work under the burden of the Red China iron curtain. Mrs. Albert Heacox, Mrs. William Ludman and Mrs. Thomas Hinds sang with Mrs. Herbert Platt at the piano.

Girl Scout Week To Open At Special Service Oct. 26

Local observance of Girl Scout Week, October 26 through November 1, will begin with a Girl Scout Sunday program October 26. It is to be held in the city hall auditorium from 3 until 4 o'clock.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive director of the Cumberland Council, is serving as mistress of ceremonies. The program opens with a color ceremony with Cresaptown Troop 11 as color guard. Group singing of the "Hymn of Scouting," and "Girl Scouts Together," is being conducted by Mrs. Robert M. Mann. Patricia Smith will be at the piano.

Speakers representing the three faiths will each develop a theme of the three-fold Girl Scout Promise. They are Rev. H. M. Richardson, of Emmanuel Episcopal Church; Rabbi Samuel Uman, B'er Chayim Temple; and Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M.Cap., SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

A candlelight ceremony will be conducted by girls of LaVale Troop 5, assisted by girls from Ridgeley Troop 7 and Cumberland Troop 10. The service will conclude with taps.

The service which is for all Girl Scouts and adults interested in scouting, is open to the public, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, temporary chairman of the Program committee.

Dorcas Class Re-Elects Officers

The Dorcas Bible Class of Methodist Emmanuel Church re-elected officers at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Stella Irons, Spring Gap. Mrs. Dora Richard presided.

Serving again this year are Mrs. Alice Trout, president; Mrs. Dora Richard, vice president; Mrs. Bessie Keller, treasurer and Mrs. Cecelia Kreiger, secretary.

Devotions opened with hymns, the Scripture was read by Mrs. Laura Smith and prayer by Rev. Kenneth Grove, who also spoke briefly. After benediction refreshments were served.

Others present were Mrs. Dorothy Grove, Mrs. Annie Zimmerly, Mrs. Ada Parker, Mrs. Florence Crites, Mrs. Mary Maphis, Mrs. Bertha Cover, Mrs. Susan Malone, Earl Irons, Robert Maphis, Donald Irons and Anita Jean Crites.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Kathleen McCulloh, Birmingham, Ala., a former resident, is here the guest of Mrs. Samuel McCulloh, Bowery Street, and other Frostburg friends and relatives.

Population of Iceland averages approximately three persons per square mile.

Little Suggests Trial Removal

Leonard Little, who has been indicted on two charges of bookmaking at Queen City Billiards, 19 North Liberty Street, yesterday filed suggestions in Allegany County Circuit Court that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial in the court here.

Attorney Harold E. Naughton, representing Little, filed identical suggestions on both indictments.

No action has been taken on the suggestions but the bookmaking charges may be ordered removed to some other court, probably Washington County Circuit Court.

The suggestions named only Little and not the other two men who were indicted with him. They are Edward Capel and Thomas Neff.

All three were charged with booking August 29 and 30. The indictments were found on the testimony of Thomas E. Smith, a State Police sergeant who came here from the Pikesville headquarters to gather evidence.

Huge Crowds

High Schools bands, Salisbury American Legion Band, Lonaconing, Frostburg and Barton bands and a host of others.

Military Represented

The military atmosphere was provided by marching units from the Army, Navy and Marine Reserve organizations, Potomac State College ROTC, Boys of Woodmen of the World, Boy Scouts and a number of other crack marching outfits.

In the last division, which was livened by the sirens, bright colored lights and flood lights of fire units, brought up the end of the parade. Deafening screams of the sirens on area fire trucks and the shouting of orders to drilling firemen, added the exciting confusion loved by all parade watchers.

Also dotting the line of march were other organizations such as the auxiliaries, the Red Cross Military Order of the Purple Heart, Gold Star Mothers and Navy Mothers.

Almost at the end of the parade, chilly spectators were taken by surprise by an unannounced five-man musical unit from Kelly-Mansfield Post, American Legion, of Piedmont.

Unit Is Popular

The humorous quintet, dressed in women's apparel, grass skirts and other non-matching clothes, brought screaming laughs from viewers.

Distinguished guests seated at the reviewing stand in front of Rosenbaum's included:

Review Parade

Mayor Roy W. Eves and the City Council, Edmund S. Burke, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce; Joseph M. Naughton, immediate past president of the Chamber; George Millenson, second vice president of the Chamber; Lou Cohen, president of the Martinsburg, W. Va. Chamber.

Stuart Rosenbaum, J. Goodloe Jackson, general chairman of the exposition; Capt. John E. Rich, local Marine Reserve; Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr., Baltimore; Major Grant E. Hoover, local Organized Army Reserve Corps; Lt. Charles H. Sides, local Navy Reserve; Major Robert C. Matlick, Maryland National Guard.

Louis Stevens and Harry Levin, Celanese Corporation of America; William Rock, manager of industry location for the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce; John Weber, district manager of the Department of Commerce; Miss Lorraine Sager, "Industrial Queen," who came to the stand after her float participated.

of Celanese Jersanese and nightie of Celanese Tricocel. This phase just about "stole the show."

The idea of being married in an elaborate wedding gown and laying it away in the attic after the ceremony is now outmoded, according to latest trends. The ballerina length wedding dress modeled at the show yesterday can be converted to evening wear by slipping off the jacket worn with the dress when the bride says, "I do."

Each patron attending the show at the St. George Motor Company showrooms is presented two booklets, "How To Choose Your Fabrics," and "Important Things To Know About Acetate Tricot." A mimeographed sheet is also presented with the names of the models, all employes of the Amcelle Plant, who do a splendid job of modeling.

Each model and what she wears is ably described by Miss Lois Stevens of the New York office of Celanese. The yarn used in most of the costumes is made at Amcelle while the fabrics are woven or knit in Celanese plants or by their customers.

Show time today is 10:30 a. m., 11:30 a. m., and 2-3-4 p. m.

The visitors, many of whom will be here today as the exposition ends, were invited to attend by Miss Lorraine Sager, queen of the exposition, during her recent "Goodwill Tour" of Eastern states.

Following the welcoming ceremony, the visitors will be taken to Ali Ghan Country Club for luncheon and then be escorted to the Industrial Bowl game at Fort Hill Stadium.

Immediately after the ceremony, a political rally will be held at City Hall Plaza from a speakers stand located on the steps of the Public Safety Building.

Principal speaker will be Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democratic Vice Presidential nominee.

Sen. Sparkman will arrive at the Cumberland Municipal Airport at 10:25 a. m. From there, his party will drive to Virginia Avenue, to Maryland Avenue, down Central Avenue to Park Street and thence to Baltimore Street.

The cavalcade will drive down Baltimore Street to South Mechanic Street, to Harrison Street and to the State Armory, where the group will visit the Industrial Exposition.

The party will leave the Armory go to George Street, back to Baltimore, down Baltimore Street to Centre, up North Centre Street to City Hall, arriving there at 11:30 a. m.

Rally at 11:30 a. m.

The Democratic rally will be opened by William L. Wilson, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Baltimore, will be master of ceremonies and Mrs. Stella Werner, Democratic candidate for Congress, and George P. Mahoney, Democratic Senatorial candidate will give brief talks.

Senator Sparkman who is scheduled to make a 14-minute talk, will be introduced by Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), who arranged for his visit here.

Sparkman is due to leave Cumberland at 12:30 p. m.

College football returns to Cumberland today after an absence of almost 30 years when West Virginia University's Mountaineers and Washington and Lee University, both of whom have averaged four touchdowns in their last three games, collide at Fort Hill Stadium at 2 o'clock in a Southern Conference contest.

The contest, one of the highlights of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition, is expected to attract approximately 10,000 fans to the Greenway Avenue Bowl.

Last Varsity Game In 1923

The last football game played here between college varsity elevens was on October 20, 1923 and was staged at Community Park, the year the Wineow street park was dedicated. In that tilt Ken Shroyer's Western Maryland College Green Terrors lost to Cam Henderson's Davis and Elkins eleven, 14 to 6.

In recent years freshmen teams of the University of Maryland and West Virginia U. played at Fort Hill Stadium and on one occasion the Washington Redskins staged an intra-squad game there.

Seek Third Straight

In today's game, the Generals of Coach Carl Wise will be trying for their third consecutive victory in a historic series that dates back to 1895. The gridders from Lexington, Va., victorious 34-0 last year and 26-7 in 1950, have not achieved such a feat since 1913-1915 and have won only one other time in the 35-game series, that being in 1939. West Virginia holds 25 victories and four ties.

While the Mountaineers are figured much stronger defensively, with the exception of pass defense, W. & L. sports a teriffic rushing game in the Southern Conference's two leading ground-gainers, Randy Broyles and Wes Abrams. Both are averaging nearly seven yards per carry, and Broyles is currently fourth in the nation with 433 yards piled up.

Dugan, Allman Are Leaders

The Mountaineers of Art "Pappy" Lewis, who was formely at W. & L., will try to match this pair with freshman halfback Eddie Dugan, of Uniontown, Pa., and big fullback Tommy Allman, Charleston, W. Va., who have gained 161 and 154 yards, respectively, in three games.

Both teams use inexperienced passers with star receivers. The Mountaineers must go with freshman Fred Wyant of Weston at quarterback since Gerry Fisher is injured for the season. Capt. Paul Bischoff of Beaver Falls and Bill Marker of Uniontown are the chief receivers. W. & L. has Joe Lindsey, Galax, Va., aiming at All-Southern end, Bob Thomas, of Fort Worth, Freshman Quarterback Charley Brandmahl, of Richmond, and Bill Sargent, of Greeneville, S. C., a southpaw, also do the throwing for the team from Lexington.

Individual Duel Seen

The individual duel between Bischoff and Thomas shapes up as one of the game's features. Bischoff, so far this season, leads his rival with 12 receptions and 179 yards to Thomas' eight for 173 in having played one more game than Bischoff.

Coaches have named one change in each lineup. W. & L. Center Tom McHenry is injured and will be replaced by double-duty man Don Weaver, of Alloy, W. Va. For the Mountaineers, Rollin McCleary, former Romney High star, may replace Jim Peyton at offensive right guard.

The Generals have seven West Virginians in their starting offensive or defensive lineups, namely, Weaver, Broyles, Irv Pratt, Tom Fieldson, Jack Kibler, former Martinsburg High ace; Tom Shivley and Bill Scott. West Virginia, on the other hand, lists 14 natives, seven Pennsylvanians and an Ohioan.

Three Locals With Generals

Three ex-Cumberland high school stars appear on the W. & L. roster. They are Wes Abrams, formerly of Allegany and Edie Landis and Don Stine, of Fort Hill. The four other Marylanders are Noel Spence, Hagerstown; Dick Johnson, of Gibson Island; Bill Dixon of Townsend and Harry Legore of Legore, Frederick county. Bob Delligatti, center, is from Albright, Preston county, W. Va.

West Virginia's 40-man squad arrived here yesterday afternoon for a half-hour workout in the stadium. The squad will stay at the New Century Hotel in nearby Romney and will return home today immediately following the game. Washington and Lee's squad will arrive here this morning.

West Va. Band Coming

The game carries a guarantee of $25,000 for the teams and this means that 10,000 paying patrons are needed for the underwriters to break even. Robert E. Pence, chairman of the football committee, announced yesterday that 9,800 seats are available and if more are needed they will be erected. A special platform will be built for the two bands. West Virginia University's band will parade on Baltimore street today about 1 p. m. The Fort Hill High School band will represent Washington and Lee at the game.

Those who have failed to purchase tickets may do so at the stadium today before the game gets under way. Three thousand tickets go on sale today at noon.

Greenberg Wants Cleveland Tribe To Hate Yankees

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17 (AP)—Hate the New York Yankees?

"I hate everything about them, and I want my players to hate them, too," Cleveland Indians General Manager Hank Greenberg said today.

Hank, far from letting bygones be bygones now that the Yanks are champions again, snorted:

"It's psychological. The psychology of superiority—that's what they beat you with.

"When I was with the Detroit Tigers we had an anti-Yankee complex. Even now, although the Tigers' personnel is different, they still possess that feeling of being able to beat the Yanks."

How to get the Cleveland Indians to hate the Yankees?

"I wish I knew," mused Hank.

Spot Players To Meet

All players of the Spot Bar of the Men's City Rec Softball League are requested to meet at the home of Manager "Brownie" Shircliffe, 206 Valley street Sunday, October 19, at 1:45 p. m., to attend a Spaghetti supper.

CIRCLEVILLE, Oct. 17 — Rudy Sites plunged through the center of the line from two yards out to give Petersburg's Vikings the deciding touchdown in the third period here today as Coach Jesse Riggleman's once-beaten eleven downed Circleville 14-7 in a Potomac Valley Conference clash.

The two teams had battled on even terms throughout the first half, each scoring once in the first period. Petersburg tallied the initial six-pointer on a 29-yard end around run by John Goldizen which culminated a 69-yard Viking drive.

Circleville's only score was set up when Earl Hedrick recovered a Petersburg fumble on the Vikings 23 and five plays later Jim Lambert slanted off tackle from five for the tying touchdown. The lineups:

Tigers Bonus Star To Take Physical

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Harvey Kuenn, Detroit Tigers' bonus shortstop, took his draft board physical examination today. Kuenn, University of Wisconsin baseball star, signed with the Tigers for a reported $55,000 bonus after finishing the Big 10 season with the Badgers. He was sent to Davenport, Ia. but finished the season with the American League club.

Citadel Ties Furman, 7-7

ORANGE, S. C., Oct. 17. (INS)—The Citadel Bulldogs, rated as two touchdown losers to Furman, played the Purple Hurricanes to a 7-7 tie today before 7,000 football fans at Orangeburg.

The Bulldogs led at the half 7 to 0 after a sustained drive was capped by a goalward plunge by Bobby Tucker on the last play of the second quarter. Buddy Friedlin converted.

Furman, stymied during most of the third quarter, scored early in the final period with the ailing Roland Pedrick carrying the ball over from The Citadel 6-yard line. Roland Fairfoot kicked the extra point.

Later, a Citadel touchdown was nullified by a backfield in motion penalty.

Maryland, Navy To Clash Today At College Park

Tension Is High For Unbeaten Rivals

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—The unbeaten Maryland and Navy football teams knock heads tomorrow in a charged atmosphere surpassed only by the Army-Navy classic.

Tension and fever are the "highest outside of the week before the Army game," reported a Naval Academy observer. A strong undercurrent of bitterness flowed through the Maryland camp because Navy has declined to continue the series which was renewed only three years ago after a 15-year lapse.

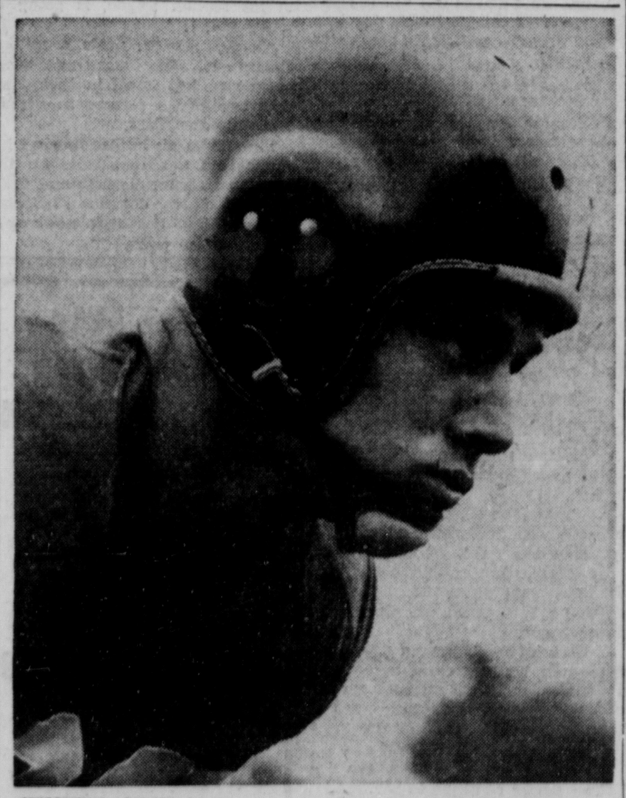
The 45,000 tickets in Byrd Stadium were sold out early this week and thousands turned down. The game will be broadcast and telecast regionally only.

Maryland is a two-touchdown favorite and has won 16 straight.

In the past two games, Navy's secret hope was just to make a good showing and they did, losing only 40-21 and 35-21. They're talking victory now.

The reason is the Middies haven't been licked since the last Maryland setback. They've won five staight, three of them this season in decisive fashion over Yale, Cornell and William & Mary.

Both teams boast exceptional defenses, Navy's rated second best and Maryland's seventh in the country. East has an Associated Press lineman of the week, Guard Steve Eisenhauer of Navy and Tackle Dick Modzelewski of Maryland.



CUMBERLANDER IS W. & L. BACKFIELD STAR—Wesley (Wes) Abrams, above, who was a standout player at Allegany High School and scored 90 points for the Campers' undefeated team of 1948, will be seen in the role of left halfback today when Washington and Lee's Generals face West Virginia University's gridders at Fort Hill Stadium. Abrams, 170-pounder, is a senior, runs with power far beyond that expected from a light-heavyweight and has tremendous leg action. Wes averaged 4.5 yards a year ago, scored three touchdowns. In four games this season, he has averaged 6.9 yards per carry and teams with Randy Broyles, the Beckley, W. Va., to give the Generals their biggest one-two punch on the ground in years. The two hard-running halfbacks have gained over 700 yards in four games—433 for Broyles and 296 for the Cumberlander. Abrams is No. 29. Keep your eye on him today.

KEYSER, Oct. 17 — Glenville College's Pioneers cracked Potomac State's six-game winning streak today by scoring touchdowns on passes in the second and third quarters to down the Catamounts by the score of 14-0 in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game at Stayman Field.

The visitors marched 70 yards for their initial six-pointer and hit paydirt on a 12-yard aerial. Glenville recovered a Catamount fumble on the P. S. 26 to set up the second touchdown which came on an 11-yard pass.

Gainer registered the extra points from placement.

The loss was the first of the season in four starts for Potomac State which closed out the 1951 campaign with three wins.

Glenville completed 7 out of 15 passes for 103 yards and piled up 173 net yards rushing. Potomac connected three times in eleven tries through the air and picked up 165 yards on the ground. The first downs were 10-9 in the Pioneers' favor.

Potomac State was badly crippled through the absence of three regulars — Eddie Totten, pass snatching end; Dick Poe, fullback, and Danny Rose, halfback, who suffered injuries in the Salem game last week. The lineups:

Phil Rizzuto Denies Retirement Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Phil Rizzuto quit?

"Not so you can tell it," the New York Yankee shortstop blurted today. "That report that I'm retiring after next season, why, it's ridiculous.

"I figure I have three more years at least left in me—that is, active play. Day in and day out.

"After that even, I don't plan on quitting baseball. I'd like to hang around, doing utility duty, then maybe coaching or serving in some other capacity.

"But I don't think my playing days are near over yet."

Mantle Greeted By Home Crowd

An estimated 7,500 lined Main Street to watch a parade open the day-long celebration in honor of the New York Yankee outfielder.

Irish On Air Today

Two national networks and 12 stations will broadcast the Notre Dame-Purdue game, today from Ross-Ade stadium in Lafayette, Ind. This means a total of 14 direct broadcasts will be taking place.

Navy Leads Series

The Maryland-Navy game today at College Park is the 14th of the series. The Middies have won ten and lost three. The Terps won last year, 40-21. Navy's last victory was 16-13 in 1934.

Unbeaten Handley Gridders Play Fort Hill Here Tonight

Sentinels And Judges To Clash 8th Time; Allegany Faces Blazers At Silver Spring

Handley High School of Winchester, Va., and Fort Hill's Sentinels will collide on the gridiron tonight at the local stadium after a lapse of eight years. The opening kickoff is set for 8 o'clock.

It will mark the eighth meeting of these schools in a grid series that started in 1937 and ended in 1943. Fort Hill leads in the series, four games to two with one game ending in a scoreless tie.

Fort Hill Leads Series

Handley won in 1937 and 1938 by scores of 28-13 and 40-0 while the Sentinels bagged decisions in 1939, 1940, 1942 and 1943 by scores of 21-7, 21-7, 12-0 and 39-13. The tie game was played in 1941.

Coached by Hunter J. Maddex, who is assisted by Paul Barr and Edward Strauss, who formerly coached basketball and baseball at Capon Bridge High School, Winchester's Judges come here with a perfect record, having won five games from Virginia opponents. The Hilltoppers have won four games and lost one, that being a 21-20 setback at the hands of Martinsburg. Coaches Maddex, Barr and Strauss, of Handley, and William P. Hahn of Fort Hill are graduates of Shepherd College.

The Handley team will be accompanied by its school band.

AHS At Silver Spring

Allegany High School and Montgomery Blair High School will tangle in their third annual game today at 2:15 p. m. at Silver Spring, Md.

Two years ago the Campers racked up a 33-19 win over the Blazers on the latter's field but last year Coach Reno Continetti's eleven squared accounts to the tune of 13-0 here.

Coach Roy Lester announces that 30 players will make the trip, leaving this morning. The AHS band will also be on hand. Montgomery Blair has scored two wins and lost three games while Allegany is in the .600 class with a 3-2 record.

Pos.	Fort Hill	Handley
LE	Couter (71)	Minor (71)

College football returns to Cumberland today after an absence of almost 30 years when West Virginia University's Mountaineers and Washington and Lee University, both of whom have averaged four touchdowns in their last three games, collide at Fort Hill Stadium at 2 o'clock in a Southern Conference contest.

The contest, one of the highlights of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition, is expected to attract approximately 10,000 fans to the Greenway Avenue Bowl.

Last Varsity Game In 1923

The last football game played here between college varsity elevens was on October 20, 1923 and was staged at Community Park, the year the Wineow street park was dedicated. In that tilt Ken Shroyer's Western Maryland College Green Terrors lost to Cam Henderson's Davis and Elkins eleven, 14 to 6.

In recent years freshmen teams of the University of Maryland and West Virginia U. played at Fort Hill Stadium and on one occasion the Washington Redskins staged an intra-squad game there.

Seek Third Straight

In today's game, the Generals of Coach Carl Wise will be trying for their third consecutive victory in a historic series that dates back to 1895. The gridders from Lexington, Va., victorious 34-0 last year and 26-7 in 1950, have not achieved such a feat since 1913-1915 and have won only one other time in the 35-game series, that being in 1939. West Virginia holds 25 victories and four ties.

While the Mountaineers are figured much stronger defensively, with the exception of pass defense, W. & L. sports a teriffic rushing game in the Southern Conference's two leading ground-gainers, Randy Broyles and Wes Abrams. Both are averaging nearly seven yards per carry, and Broyles is currently fourth in the nation with 433 yards piled up.

Dugan, Allman Are Leaders

The Mountaineers of Art "Pappy" Lewis, who was formely at W. & L., will try to match this pair with freshman halfback Eddie Dugan, of Uniontown, Pa., and big fullback Tommy Allman, Charleston, W. Va., who have gained 161 and 154 yards, respectively, in three games.

Both teams use inexperienced passers with star receivers. The Mountaineers must go with freshman Fred Wyant of Weston at quarterback since Gerry Fisher is injured for the season. Capt. Paul Bischoff of Beaver Falls and Bill Marker of Uniontown are the chief receivers. W. & L. has Joe Lindsey, Galax, Va., aiming at All-Southern end, Bob Thomas, of Fort Worth, Freshman Quarterback Charley Brandmahl, of Richmond, and Bill Sargent, of Greeneville, S. C., a southpaw, also do the throwing for the team from Lexington.

Individual Duel Seen

The individual duel between Bischoff and Thomas shapes up as one of the game's features. Bischoff, so far this season, leads his rival with 12 receptions and 179 yards to Thomas' eight for 173 in having played one more game than Bischoff.

Coaches have named one change in each lineup. W. & L. Center Tom McHenry is injured and will be replaced by double-duty man Don Weaver, of Alloy, W. Va. For the Mountaineers, Rollin McCleary, former Romney High star, may replace Jim Peyton at offensive right guard.

The Generals have seven West Virginians in their starting offensive or defensive lineups, namely, Weaver, Broyles, Irv Pratt, Tom Fieldson, Jack Kibler, former Martinsburg High ace; Tom Shivley and Bill Scott. West Virginia, on the other hand, lists 14 natives, seven Pennsylvanians and an Ohioan.

Three Locals With Generals

Three ex-Cumberland high school stars appear on the W. & L. roster. They are Wes Abrams, formerly of Allegany and Edie Landis and Don Stine, of Fort Hill. The four other Marylanders are Noel Spence, Hagerstown; Dick Johnson, of Gibson Island; Bill Dixon of Townsend and Harry Legore of Legore, Frederick county. Bob Delligatti, center, is from Albright, Preston county, W. Va.

West Virginia's 40-man squad arrived here yesterday afternoon for a half-hour workout in the stadium. The squad will stay at the New Century Hotel in nearby Romney and will return home today immediately following the game. Washington and Lee's squad will arrive here this morning.

West Va. Band Coming

The game carries a guarantee of $25,000 for the teams and this means that 10,000 paying patrons are needed for the underwriters to break even. Robert E. Pence, chairman of the football committee, announced yesterday that 9,800 seats are available and if more are needed they will be erected. A special platform will be built for the two bands. West Virginia University's band will parade on Baltimore street today about 1 p. m. The Fort Hill High School band will represent Washington and Lee at the game.

Those who have failed to purchase tickets may do so at the stadium today before the game gets under way. Three thousand tickets go on sale today at noon.

Greenberg Wants Cleveland Tribe To Hate Yankees

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17 (AP)—Hate the New York Yankees?

"I hate everything about them, and I want my players to hate them, too," Cleveland Indians General Manager Hank Greenberg said today.

Hank, far from letting bygones be bygones now that the Yanks are champions again, snorted:

"It's psychological. The psychology of superiority—that's what they beat you with.

"When I was with the Detroit Tigers we had an anti-Yankee complex. Even now, although the Tigers' personnel is different, they still possess that feeling of being able to beat the Yanks."

How to get the Cleveland Indians to hate the Yankees?

Spot Players To Meet

All players of the Spot Bar of the Men's City Rec Softball League are requested to meet at the home of Manager "Brownie" Shircliffe, 206 Valley street Sunday, October 19, at 1:45 p. m., to attend a Spaghetti supper.

CIRCLEVILLE, Oct. 17 — Rudy Sites plunged through the center of the line from two yards out to give Petersburg's Vikings the deciding touchdown in the third period here today as Coach Jesse Riggleman's once-beaten eleven downed Circleville 14-7 in a Potomac Valley Conference clash.

The two teams had battled on even terms throughout the first half, each scoring once in the first period. Petersburg tallied the initial six-pointer on a 29-yard end around run by John Goldizen which culminated a 69-yard Viking drive.

Circleville's only score was set up when Earl Hedrick recovered a Petersburg fumble on the Vikings 23 and five plays later Jim Lambert slanted off tackle from five for the tying touchdown. The lineups:

Judge Harris And Wife Win CCC Golf Matches

Yesterday was "Harris Day" at the Cumberland Country Club.

Judge Morgan C. Harris won over Phil Jenkins, 7 and 6, in a second flight match in the men's fall golf tournament.

Mrs. Harris defeated Mrs. Lynn Lashley, 6 and 5, in a second flight consolation test in the women's fall tourney.

Tigers Bonus Star To Take Physical

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Harvey Kuenn, Detroit Tigers' bonus shortstop, took his draft board physical examination today. Kuenn, University of Wisconsin baseball star, signed with the Tigers for a reported $55,000 bonus after finishing the Big 10 season with the Badgers. He was sent to Davenport, Ia. but finished the season with the American League club.

Citadel Ties Furman, 7-7

ORANGE, S. C., Oct. 17. (INS)—The Citadel Bulldogs, rated as two touchdown losers to Furman, played the Purple Hurricanes to a 7-7 tie today before 7,000 football fans at Orangeburg.

The Bulldogs led at the half 7 to 0 after a sustained drive was capped by a goalward plunge by Bobby Tucker on the last play of the second quarter. Buddy Friedlin converted.

Furman, stymied during most of the third quarter, scored early in the final period with the ailing Roland Pedrick carrying the ball over from The Citadel 6-yard line. Roland Fairfoot kicked the extra point.

Later, a Citadel touchdown was nullified by a backfield in motion penalty.

Maryland, Navy To Clash Today At College Park

Tension Is High For Unbeaten Rivals

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—The unbeaten Maryland and Navy football teams knock heads tomorrow in a charged atmosphere surpassed only by the Army-Navy classic.

Tension and fever are the "highest outside of the week before the Army game," reported a Naval Academy observer. A strong undercurrent of bitterness flowed through the Maryland camp because Navy has declined to continue the series which was renewed only three years ago after a 15-year lapse.

The 45,000 tickets in Byrd Stadium were sold out early this week and thousands turned down. The game will be broadcast and telecast regionally only.

Maryland is a two-touchdown favorite and has won 16 straight.

In the past two games, Navy's secret hope was just to make a good showing and they did, losing only 40-21 and 35-21. They're talking victory now.

The reason is the Middies haven't been licked since the last Maryland setback. They've won five staight, three of them this season in decisive fashion over Yale, Cornell and William & Mary.

Both teams boast exceptional defenses, Navy's rated second best and Maryland's seventh in the country. East has an Associated Press lineman of the week, Guard Steve Eisenhauer of Navy and Tackle Dick Modzelewski of Maryland.

CUMBERLANDER IS W. & L. BACKFIELD STAR—Wesley (Wes) Abrams, above, who was a standout player at Allegany High School and scored 90 points for the Campers' undefeated team of 1948, will be seen in the role of left halfback today when Washington and Lee's Generals face West Virginia University's gridders at Fort Hill Stadium. Abrams, 170-pounder, is a senior, runs with power far beyond that expected from a light-heavyweight and has tremendous leg action. Wes averaged 4.5 yards a year ago, scored three touchdowns. In four games this season, he has averaged 6.9 yards per carry and teams with Randy Broyles, the Beckley, W. Va., to give the Generals their biggest one-two punch on the ground in years. The two hard-running halfbacks have gained over 700 yards in four games—433 for Broyles and 296 for the Cumberlander. Abrams is No. 29. Keep your eye on him today.

Potomac State Win Streak Halted By Glenville, 14-0

KEYSER, Oct. 17 — Glenville College's Pioneers cracked Potomac State's six-game winning streak today by scoring touchdowns on passes in the second and third quarters to down the Catamounts by the score of 14-0 in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game at Stayman Field.

The visitors marched 70 yards for their initial six-pointer and hit paydirt on a 12-yard aerial. Glenville recovered a Catamount fumble on the P. S. 26 to set up the second touchdown which came on an 11-yard pass.

Gainer registered the extra points from placement.

The loss was the first of the season in four starts for Potomac State which closed out the 1951 campaign with three wins.

Glenville completed 7 out of 15 passes for 103 yards and piled up 173 net yards rushing. Potomac connected three times in eleven tries through the air and picked up 165 yards on the ground. The first downs were 10-9 in the Pioneers' favor.

Potomac State was badly crippled through the absence of three regulars — Eddie Totten, pass snatching end; Dick Poe, fullback, and Danny Rose, halfback, who suffered injuries in the Salem game last week. The lineups:

Phil Rizzuto Denies Retirement Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP) — Phil Rizzuto quit?

"Not so you can tell it," the New York Yankee shortstop blurted today. "That report that I'm retiring after next season, why, it's ridiculous.

"I figure I have three more years at least left in me—that is, active play. Day in and day out.

"After that even, I don't plan on quitting baseball. I'd like to hang around, doing utility duty, then maybe coaching or serving in some other capacity.

Mantle Greeted By Home Crowd

An estimated 7,500 lined Main Street to watch a parade open the day-long celebration in honor of the New York Yankee outfielder.

Irish On Air Today

Two national networks and 12 stations will broadcast the Notre Dame-Purdue game, today from Ross-Ade stadium in Lafayette, Ind. This means a total of 14 direct broadcasts will be taking place.

Navy Leads Series

The Maryland-Navy game today at College Park is the 14th of the series. The Middies have won ten and lost three. The Terps won last year, 40-21. Navy's last victory was 16-13 in 1934.

Unbeaten Handley Gridders Play Fort Hill Here Tonight

Sentinels And Judges To Clash 8th Time; Allegany Faces Blazers At Silver Spring

Handley High School of Winchester, Va., and Fort Hill's Sentinels will collide on the gridiron tonight at the local stadium after a lapse of eight years. The opening kickoff is set for 8 o'clock.

It will mark the eighth meeting of these schools in a grid series that started in 1937 and ended in 1943. Fort Hill leads in the series, four games to two with one game ending in a scoreless tie.

Fort Hill Leads Series

Handley won in 1937 and 1938 by scores of 28-13 and 40-0 while the Sentinels bagged decisions in 1939, 1940, 1942 and 1943 by scores of 21-7, 21-7, 12-0 and 39-13. The tie game was played in 1941.

Coached by Hunter J. Maddex, who is assisted by Paul Barr and Edward Strauss, who formerly coached basketball and baseball at Capon Bridge High School, Winchester's Judges come here with a perfect record, having won five games from Virginia opponents. The Hilltoppers have won four games and lost one, that being a 21-20 setback at the hands of Martinsburg. Coaches Maddex, Barr and Strauss, of Handley, and William P. Hahn of Fort Hill are graduates of Shepherd College.

The Handley team will be accompanied by its school band.

AHS At Silver Spring

Allegany High School and Montgomery Blair High School will tangle in their third annual game today at 2:15 p. m. at Silver Spring, Md.

Two years ago the Campers racked up a 33-19 win over the Blazers on the latter's field but last year Coach Reno Continetti's eleven squared accounts to the tune of 13-0 here.

Coach Roy Lester announces that 30 players will make the trip, leaving this morning. The AHS band will also be on hand. Montgomery Blair has scored two wins and lost three games while Allegany is in the .600 class with a 3-2 record.

Probable starting lineups for the Fort Hill-Handley game tonight are as follows:

Pos.	Fort Hill	Handley
LE	Couter (71)	Minor (71)

Groom And Ten Horses Die In Waterford Fire

Fireman, Jockey Hurt, Races Resume Today

CHESTER, W. Va., Oct. 17 (AP)—Horse racing resumes tomorrow at Waterford Park after a one-day suspension due to a disasterous fire that killed one groom and 10 horses.

The body of William Toppacott, 45, of Warrenton, Va., was found about four hours after the blaze broke out in one of the stables. He died trying to lead some horses from the burning buildings.

The blaze also destroyed four barns, housing 485 stalls. Damage unofficially was estimated at $100,000. Fifty of the 792 thoroughbreds that stampeded were still missing.

Track officials said the terrified animals dashed about wildly after flames broke out yesterday during the running of the seventh race. Some of the horses were found as far as seven miles away.

Four of the horses that perished belonged to T. E. and R. F. Reese of Muncie, Ind. They were Hoosier Lad, Harem Princess, Munsee Miss and Wallop.

Other horses killed in the fire included Rake and Low Talk owned by Norman Heaton and Morgan Lewis, along with Devil's Grin, Shiner, Right Move and Perfect Idea, the property of Joseph Rogers and trained by Morgan Lewis of Versailles, Ky.

First reports said Royal Foot, owned by Mrs. Robert Dodds of Singac, N. J., had to be destroyed. But later track officials said the animal suffered extensive cuts and might have to be destroyed.

Flying sparks injured George McIntosh, 30, a Newell, W. Va., fireman. Jockey Tim O'Harrington, 25, of Shreveport, La., suffered rib injuries. He was knocked down by a fleeing horse.

Despite the fire, the $10,000 Gateway Stakes, biggest purse ever in West Virginia, will be run tomorrow with 11 horses entered.

Greek Ship Is Favored

International Race Set At Laurel Today

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Seven horses from four countries will meet tomorrow at Laurel Park in the $50,000 Washington International, most ambitious race of its kind in the history of U. S. racing.

Greek Ship, from the Brookmeade Stable of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, Upperville, Va., is expected to be the choice of a crowd of some 25,000 for the mile and one half event over the infield turf course.

Greek Ship, to be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, is one of three U. S. horses invited to meet the foreign thoroughbreds and has been made the even money favorite. The others are Ruhe, from the Hasty House Farms of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reubens, Toledo, Ohio, and Pilaster, owned by Mrs. Henry L. Straus, Baltimore.

The chief foreign threats appear to be two British horses, Zucchero, owned by George Rolls, a bookmaker of Newbury, Berkshire, and Wilwyn, property of Robert C. Boucher, prosperous Kent fruit farmer.

Dan Bucceroni Wins

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (INS)—Dan Bucceroni, 187½, of Philadelphia pounded out a close but unanimous decision tonight over Dave Davey, 21, of the Puyallup Valley, Washington, in a ten-round main event at St. Nick's Arena.

Both judges, Jack O'Sullivan and Arthur Aidala, scored the rounds 4-4-2 but gave Bucceroni the edge on points. Referee Al Berle had it 5-4-1 for Bucceroni.

It was Dan's 38th win in 41 bouts and snapped a 16-fight winning streak for Davey, who had taken 22 of 24 bouts.

ROMNEY, W. Va., Oct. 17 — Roger Parker, Romney High fullback, scored touchdowns in the first and third quarters today to give Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers a 14- 0 triumph over Beall High School of Frostburg.

The victory was Romney's fifth in six starts while the Mountaineers suffered their fourth straight setback after winning the opener.

Romney took a punt on its own 42 in the second quarter and marched 58 yards for the initial td. Two first down passes tossed by Ed Hartman carried to the Beall 20 and three plays later Parker jumped over from the 1-yard mark. In the third stanza, Shawen blocked Zinn's punt on the Beall 32 to set up the second score which was chalked up by Parker who circled right end for the final 13 yards. Joe Corbin converted both times on placement kicks.

Beall was stopped in the second quarter after marching 58 yards when Romney held for downs on its own 35. In the third period the visitors lost the ball on a fumble after driving to the RHS 35. Hartman's pass interception on the Romney 10 halted the third Beall offensive in the fourth period.

Parker and Haines were Romney's big ground gainers, the former piling up 85 yards in 18 carries while the latter reeled off 51 yards in seven tries. Jim Beach paced the losers with 41 yards in 12 runs.

Other highlights were the fine punting of Joe Corbin and the defensive play of Jim Beach, Paul Thompson and Bob Stevenson of Beall and Mike Coleman and Johnny Shawen of Romney. Lineups:

Martinsburg Ties Hagerstown 14-14

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 17 — Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs scored a touchdown and extra point in the last 30 seconds of play tonight to battle undefeated Hagerstown High School's football team to a 14-14 deadlock.

After the West Virginians had advanced to the Hagerstown 21, two passes were batted down, then Hamilton tossed to Holbruner for the touchdown. Netoskie kicked the point that tied up the game.

In the second period Hagerstown took a 14-0 lead on touchdowns scored by Cianelli and Parks and Jenkins made the extra points.

Martinsburg crashed the scoring column in the third period when Hamilton smashed over from the six and Netoskie made the point from placement.

Fifth Straight Win

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Frederick High School had too many guns for Gaithersburg tonight, swamping the visitors, 45-12.

It was the fifth win for undefeated Frederick. Score by periods:

FREDERICK	13	12	13	7	—45
GAITHERSBURG	0	0	6	6	—12

Groom And Ten Horses Die In Waterford Fire

Fireman, Jockey Hurt, Races Resume Today

CHESTER, W. Va., Oct. 17 (AP)—Horse racing resumes tomorrow at Waterford Park after a one-day suspension due to a disasterous fire that killed one groom and 10 horses.

The body of William Toppacott, 45, of Warrenton, Va., was found about four hours after the blaze broke out in one of the stables. He died trying to lead some horses from the burning buildings.

The blaze also destroyed four barns, housing 485 stalls. Damage unofficially was estimated at $100,000. Fifty of the 792 thoroughbreds that stampeded were still missing.

Track officials said the terrified animals dashed about wildly after flames broke out yesterday during the running of the seventh race. Some of the horses were found as far as seven miles away.

Four of the horses that perished belonged to T. E. and R. F. Reese of Muncie, Ind. They were Hoosier Lad, Harem Princess, Munsee Miss and Wallop.

Other horses killed in the fire included Rake and Low Talk owned by Norman Heaton and Morgan Lewis, along with Devil's Grin, Shiner, Right Move and Perfect Idea, the property of Joseph Rogers and trained by Morgan Lewis of Versailles, Ky.

First reports said Royal Foot, owned by Mrs. Robert Dodds of Singac, N. J., had to be destroyed. But later track officials said the animal suffered extensive cuts and might have to be destroyed.

Flying sparks injured George McIntosh, 30, a Newell, W. Va., fireman. Jockey Tim O'Harrington, 25, of Shreveport, La., suffered rib injuries. He was knocked down by a fleeing horse.

Despite the fire, the $10,000 Gateway Stakes, biggest purse ever in West Virginia, will be run tomorrow with 11 horses entered.

Greek Ship Is Favored

International Race Set At Laurel Today

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Seven horses from four countries will meet tomorrow at Laurel Park in the $50,000 Washington International, most ambitious race of its kind in the history of U. S. racing.

Greek Ship, from the Brookmeade Stable of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, Upperville, Va., is expected to be the choice of a crowd of some 25,000 for the mile and one half event over the infield turf course.

Greek Ship, to be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, is one of three U. S. horses invited to meet the foreign thoroughbreds and has been made the even money favorite. The others are Ruhe, from the Hasty House Farms of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reubens, Toledo, Ohio, and Pilaster, owned by Mrs. Henry L. Straus, Baltimore.

Dan Bucceroni Wins

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (INS)—Dan Bucceroni, 187½, of Philadelphia pounded out a close but unanimous decision tonight over Dave Davey, 211, of the Puyallup Valley, Washington, in a ten-round main event at St. Nick's Arena.

Both judges, Jack O'Sullivan and Arthur Aidala, scored the rounds 4-4-2 but gave Bucceroni the edge on points. Referee Al Berle had it 5-4-1 for Bucceroni.

ROMNEY, W. Va., Oct. 17 — Roger Parker, Romney High fullback, scored touchdowns in the first and third quarters today to give Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers a 14- 0 triumph over Beall High School of Frostburg.

Romney took a punt on its own 42 in the second quarter and marched 58 yards for the initial td. Two first down passes tossed by Ed Hartman carried to the Beall 20 and three plays later Parker jumped over from the 1-yard mark. In the third stanza, Shawen blocked Zinn's punt on the Beall 32 to set up the second score which was chalked up by Parker who circled right end for the final 13 yards. Joe Corbin converted both times on placement kicks.

Beall was stopped in the second quarter after marching 58 yards when Romney held for downs on its own 35. In the third period the visitors lost the ball on a fumble after driving to the RHS 35. Hartman's pass interception on the Romney 10 halted the third Beall offensive in the fourth period.

Parker and Haines were Romney's big ground gainers, the former piling up 85 yards in 18 carries while the latter reeled off 51 yards in seven tries. Jim Beach paced the losers with 41 yards in 12 runs.

Other highlights were the fine punting of Joe Corbin and the defensive play of Jim Beach, Paul Thompson and Bob Stevenson of Beall and Mike Coleman and Johnny Shawen of Romney. Lineups:

Appeal Hearing For Oakland Man Gets Under Way

Larch Charges Irregularities

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 15 (AP) — An Oakland man sentenced to six years in the House of Correction for receiving stolen goods told the Court of Appeals today the lower court erred in refusing to remove his case to another jurisdiction.

Calvin C. Larch, a truck driver who operated a junk business in his spare time, was convicted in Garrett County Circuit Court for having knowingly received three truck batteries.

Just begore the trial began last March 26, Larch's attorney moved for a change in venue because the defendant feared an unfair trial and because a member of the petit jury panel was also one of the prosecuting witnesses.

Public Opinion Aroused

It was argued that public opinion was so aroused in Garrett County that it would have an adverse effect on any jury selected. The defense referred to a newspaper article about 30 grand jury indictments which mentioned only Larch's name.

Counsel for Larch contended the entire petit jury could be challenged because Ralph Pritts, the victim of the thefts, was also a prosecuting witness.

"The actual presence of a single partial man on the sitting jury destroys and wipes out the impartiality of the entire body and renders it partial," the lawyer said. "Any improper juror can destroy the integrity of the verdict."

When questioned about the stolen junk materials on March 2, Larch said he purchased them from two teen-age boys. Two tires, a seat and a wheel were returned to Pritts.

Loot Never Identified

"Three junk batteries in question," Larch's brief stated, "presumably belonging to . . . Pritts, never actually identified in the indictment or in the possession of the defendant, formed the foundation of the case."

Counsel for the state pointed out that on the day before Larch's trial a defendant was acquitted in a case in which Pritts was also a prosecuting witness, as well as a member of the panel.

The state said there was nothing in the record to indicate the trial court abused its discretion in refusing to order a change in venue.

Water Condition At Westernport Given In Report

WESTERNPORT — Westernport's water is pure and free from bacteria, Julian G. Patrick chemist at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has advised the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport after making daily tests at the laboratory.

The discoloration and odor are due to the disintergration of stumps, roots, leaves and vegetation in the Savage River Dam. To remove the bad taste and odor, Patrick suggest that the water for drinking purposes, be boiled for 10 minutes and allowed to stand for an hour. The vegetation will settle to the bottom. The water in the dam is 38 feet below its normal height because of the lack of rainfall. During the season, the rainfall has been the lowest since 1930, records show.

The Mayor and Commissioners decided Wednesday night to request the Army Engineers, the Upper Potomac River Commission and the Maryland State Board of Health to take measure to provide a satisfactory water supply for the town.

The council also discussed the possibility of taking water from the old reservoir as a temporary measure, and the need for a filtration plant to remedy the condition in the future. Come complaints of the taste and odor were made this summer, but the condition has been worse recently. As the dam recedes, the condition will become worse.

The council is doing everything in its power under the conditions, and hopes the people of the community will bear with them until the condition is remedied.

The council also instructed the clerk to write a letter to the Public Service Commission, protesting the degree of increase in the proposed new rates filed by the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company.

Appeal Hearing For Oakland Man Gets Under Way

Larch Charges Irregularities

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 15 (AP) — An Oakland man sentenced to six years in the House of Correction for receiving stolen goods told the Court of Appeals today the lower court erred in refusing to remove his case to another jurisdiction.

Calvin C. Larch, a truck driver who operated a junk business in his spare time, was convicted in Garrett County Circuit Court for having knowingly received three truck batteries.

Just begore the trial began last March 26, Larch's attorney moved for a change in venue because the defendant feared an unfair trial and because a member of the petit jury panel was also one of the prosecuting witnesses.

Public Opinion Aroused

It was argued that public opinion was so aroused in Garrett County that it would have an adverse effect on any jury selected. The defense referred to a newspaper article about 30 grand jury indictments which mentioned only Larch's name.

Counsel for Larch contended the entire petit jury could be challenged because Ralph Pritts, the victim of the thefts, was also a prosecuting witness.

"The actual presence of a single partial man on the sitting jury destroys and wipes out the impartiality of the entire body and renders it partial," the lawyer said. "Any improper juror can destroy the integrity of the verdict."

When questioned about the stolen junk materials on March 2, Larch said he purchased them from two teen-age boys. Two tires, a seat and a wheel were returned to Pritts.

Loot Never Identified

"Three junk batteries in question," Larch's brief stated, "presumably belonging to . . . Pritts, never actually identified in the indictment or in the possession of the defendant, formed the foundation of the case."

Counsel for the state pointed out that on the day before Larch's trial a defendant was acquitted in a case in which Pritts was also a prosecuting witness, as well as a member of the panel.

FORMER NATIONAL walking champion James H. Hocking is shown at door of his home in Teaneck, N. J., on his 96th birthday, after being prevailed upon by his son and a doctor to forego a 20-mile stroll in Palisades Interstate park. He said he has walked more than 850,000 miles in his life, and, "There's no place to walk safely. Main highways, even country lanes —traffic." (International)

Water Condition At Westernport Given In Report

WESTERNPORT — Westernport's water is pure and free from bacteria, Julian G. Patrick chemist at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has advised the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport after making daily tests at the laboratory.

The discoloration and odor are due to the disintergration of stumps, roots, leaves and vegetation in the Savage River Dam. To remove the bad taste and odor, Patrick suggest that the water for drinking purposes, be boiled for 10 minutes and allowed to stand for an hour. The vegetation will settle to the bottom. The water in the dam is 38 feet below its normal height because of the lack of rainfall. During the season, the rainfall has been the lowest since 1930, records show.

The Mayor and Commissioners decided Wednesday night to request the Army Engineers, the Upper Potomac River Commission and the Maryland State Board of Health to take measure to provide a satisfactory water supply for the town.

The council also discussed the possibility of taking water from the old reservoir as a temporary measure, and the need for a filtration plant to remedy the condition in the future. Come complaints of the taste and odor were made this summer, but the condition has been worse recently. As the dam recedes, the condition will become worse.

The council is doing everything in its power under the conditions, and hopes the people of the community will bear with them until the condition is remedied.

The council also instructed the clerk to write a letter to the Public Service Commission, protesting the degree of increase in the proposed new rates filed by the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company.

Mary Pickford's Son Hurt In Game

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Mary Pickford said today the football-playing days of her 16-year-old adopted son were ended by an injury in a school game last week.

Miss Pickford said that she felt encouraged about Ronald's condition but that the boy's doctor had told her his football career was over.

Sen. Bean Speaker

Down in the Valley...

. . . Walking down Baltimore St. yesterday enjoying a pleasant day dream when "BOOM". Well, the first impulse was to roll over and play long-gone Possum . . . but curiosity snuck up, took the foremost and we discovered the "Boom" to be nothing more fatal than part of a most interesting bomb and explosive display and lecture. All this is by way of saying that the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition got off to a BOOMING start . . . and, what with parade, football game, etc. on the agenda great things are yet to come. You'll add to your pleasure, too, by taking a trip Down In the Valley. We'll expose you to the best food, drink and TAYLORVISION in town . . . plus a really comfortable atmosphere to relax in. P. PTA Council Plans Dinner At Frostburg Wednesday

The Allegany County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will hold a fellowship dinner at Frostburg State Teachers College at 7 p. m. Wednesday, according to Dr. Adam Baer, president.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, will be the principal speaker. He will discuss problems relative to the state school system. A discussion period will follow.

The invocation will be by Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the college. Mrs. Robert Lord, music chairman, will accompany Kenneth McGraw in vocal selections and also group singing.

Those who have been invited to attend the event include Dr. Thomas Pullen, state superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Pullen; Mrs. Webster, Joseph Hunter, Baltimore, state PTA president, and Mrs. Hunter; Board of Education members State Senator Robert B. Kimble, the county delegation to the House of Delegates, representatives of the American Childhood Education group, University Women's organization, the president of the county teachers association, county school principals and presidents of PTA locals.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, chairman, Miss Winifred Green, Mrs. Stanley Buckley, Mrs. Adam Baer, Mrs. Robert Lord, Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman and Mrs. Lester McGill.

Mrs. Isiminger and Miss Green are program chairmen; Mrs. Baer and Mrs. Shafferman, tables and decorations; Mrs. Baer, reservations; Mrs. Lord, music; Mrs. McGill, publicity, and Mrs. Buckley, invitations.

Mary Pickford's Son Hurt In Game

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Mary Pickford said today the football-playing days of her 16-year-old adopted son were ended by an injury in a school game last week.

Miss Pickford said that she felt encouraged about Ronald's condition but that the boy's doctor had told her his football career was over.

Sen. Bean Speaker

Central Methodist Church will observe Laymen's Day tomorrow, with services at 11 a. m. and State Senator Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, as the speaker. Senator Bean, chairman of the Judiciary Committee in the state legislature, is a prominent layman in the West Virginia Conference.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Music And Pictures

Fred Waring is attempting with considerable success to do with pictures on television what he accomplished so well with sound on the radio. Live television, after all, is not movies and is not — or shouldn't be—just a stage show, though it can have elements of both.

John Crosby

In transferring from radio to TV, Waring faced a formidable problem. His was essentially a vocal and orchestral show. Voices and instruments don't lend themselves to photography very well. Still, Waring couldn't transform his outfit into an ordinary song and dance fest without ruining the nature of his show which he had laboriously built up over decades of radio.

He has, I think, solved the problem very well. The camera work on the Waring show is, in the best sense of the word, art photography. The difference between it and the other kind of art photography is simply that the pictures move. But they are a combination of light and shadow, of form and substance, that catch and hold the eye and both appeal to and enlighten it. A tremendous amount of imagination seems to go into the camera work. There was one number on his opening show salled 'Happy Feet" which was a succession of shots of dancing feet. Just the feet and a bit of the leg, all sorts of feet—male and female—tapdancing, Spanish dancing, waltzing. It was a wonderfully effective illustration of that particular song.

The cameras seem to roam at will on that show with a fluidity and grace that are almost never found in movies, at least the ones I see. There was one Rimsky-Korsakoff number which opened with a shot of the legs of a woman in Spanish costume, switched to a rear shot of a male dancer swathed in a Spanish cape and then gently caressed the entire orchestra like a hand passing over the strings of a harp. Throughout the number the camera swooped about gracefully as a bird. It was quite a production.

The character of a Waring's music ought to be pretty well known by now. It is not, I realize, to just everyone's taste but it suits mine fine, most of the time. On his opening show, the Waring orchestra and the glee club and the solo singers tackled such divorse numbers as "God Bless America," "Enjoy Yourself," "Wish You Were Here," a Jewish hymn in celebration of Rosh Hashonah, and a barbershop quartet version of a spiritual.

Gaiety alternates about equally with solemnity. and the numbers are so arranged that the end of one blends with and runs right into the beginning of another. The Waring show then becomes, not a succession of production numbers, but one big half hour production number—and a very pleasant one. As usual Mr. Waring presides over the orchestra and the singers with great urbanity, only occasionally marred by a little too much archness for my taste.

On his opening show, he promised that the music would be leavened by bits of vaudeville and comedy. But in general the Waring show is music and pictures — pretty music and pretty pictures, each harmonizing and enhancing the other. It's also pure television.

To pass on to other matters, these commercial announcers are beginning to wear me down. I mean the men who look right at you, holding the bottle of Pepto-Bismo, and grinning away as if they'd never had an upset stomach in their lives. The girls are much better at it. They look as if they had not only heard of the soap powder but had actually used the stuff.

But these stainless steel, relentlessly grinning announcers can't convince me they ever suffered from throat scratch or headaches or any of the other ailments they keep warning us about. I don't know what can be done about this exactly but I've brooded about it quite a lot. My only suggestion is that they muss 'em up a little. Disarrange those faultless neckties. Muss up their hair a little bit. They don't look quite human.

Radio And Television

Music And Pictures

Fred Waring is attempting with considerable success to do with pictures on television what he accomplished so well with sound on the radio. Live television, after all, is not movies and is not — or shouldn't be—just a stage show, though it can have elements of both.

John Crosby

In transferring from radio to TV, Waring faced a formidable problem. His was essentially a vocal and orchestral show. Voices and instruments don't lend themselves to photography very well. Still, Waring couldn't transform his outfit into an ordinary song and dance fest without ruining the nature of his show which he had laboriously built up over decades of radio.

He has, I think, solved the problem very well. The camera work on the Waring show is, in the best sense of the word, art photography. The difference between it and the other kind of art photography is simply that the pictures move. But they are a combination of light and shadow, of form and substance, that catch and hold the eye and both appeal to and enlighten it. A tremendous amount of imagination seems to go into the camera work. There was one number on his opening show called 'Happy Feet" which was a succession of shots of dancing feet. Just the feet and a bit of the leg, all sorts of feet—male and female—tapdancing, Spanish dancing, waltzing. It was a wonderfully effective illustration of that particular song.

The cameras seem to roam at will on that show with a fluidity and grace that are almost never found in movies, at least the ones I see. There was one Rimsky-Korsakoff number which opened with a shot of the legs of a woman in Spanish costume, switched to a rear shot of a male dancer swathed in a Spanish cape and then gently caressed the entire orchestra like a hand passing over the strings of a harp. Throughout the number the camera swooped about gracefully as a bird. It was quite a production.

The character of a Waring's music ought to be pretty well known by now. It is not, I realize, to just everyone's taste but it suits mine fine, most of the time. On his opening show, the Waring orchestra and the glee club and the solo singers tackled such divorse numbers as "God Bless America," "Enjoy Yourself," "Wish You Were Here," a Jewish hymn in celebration of Rosh Hashonah, and a barbershop quartet version of a spiritual.

Gaiety alternates about equally with solemnity, and the numbers are so arranged that the end of one blends with and runs right into the beginning of another. The Waring show then becomes, not a succession of production numbers, but one big half hour production number—and a very pleasant one. As usual Mr. Waring presides over the orchestra and the singers with great urbanity, only occasionally marred by a little too much archness for my taste.

On his opening show, he promised that the music would be leavened by bits of vaudeville and comedy. But in general the Waring show is music and pictures — pretty music and pretty pictures, each harmonizing and enhancing the other. It's also pure television.

To pass on to other matters, these commercial announcers are beginning to wear me down. I mean the men who look right at you, holding the bottle of Pepto-Bismo, and grinning away as if they'd never had an upset stomach in their lives. The girls are much better at it. They look as if they had not only heard of the soap powder but had actually used the stuff.

But these stainless steel, relentlessly grinning announcers can't convince me they ever suffered from throat scratch or headaches or any of the other ailments they keep warning us about. I don't know what can be done about this exactly but I've brooded about it quite a lot. My only suggestion is that they muss 'em up a little. Disarrange those faultless neckties. Muss up their hair a little bit. They don't look quite human.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy extended to me during my recent bereavement, the death of my husband, William Richard Evans. Especially do I thank those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and Rev. Louis Emerick.
Mrs. William R. Evans

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Elsie V. McBride, who passed away one year ago today, October 18, 1951.
You left behind our broken hearts,
That loved you most sincere,
That never did and never will
Forget you Mother dear.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear Mother
That we do not think of you.
Her Children.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy extended to me during my recent bereavement, the death of my husband, William Richard Evans. Especially do I thank those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and Rev. Louis Emerick.
Mrs. William R. Evans

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Elsie V. McBride, who passed away one year ago today, October 18, 1951.
You left behind our broken hearts,
That loved you most sincere,
That never did and never will
Forget you Mother dear.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear Mother
That we do not think of you.
Her Children.

Market Rallies To Recover Half Of This Week's Losses

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The stock market staged a strong recovery drive today that erased around half of the sharp losses suffered in the previous sessions this week.

The advance was the best in the past four and a half months, but volume on the rise didn't come near matching the total built up when the market was under selling pressure.

Railroads were well out in front on the advance with generous help from oils, motors, steels, coppers, rubbers, radio-televisions and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

Brokers felt that the rebound was a result of an oversold condition in the market—prices had gone down too far too fast, and the bounce back was a natural action.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.30 at $105.10. Volume came to 1,360,000 shares, considerable less than yesterday's 1,730,000 shares when prices were down on balance.

Pepsi-Cola, which yesterday after the close declared an annual dividend of 25 cents and an extra of 10 cents, was the day's most active issue up ½ at 10⅛ with 29,900 shares traded. R-K-O, sixth most active, off ⅛ at 4.

LOSE A TRICK IN TRUMP

MANY things in bridge, which at first blush seem obvious, are not obvious at all. Among those is the idea that a declarer, who is able to take every trick in the trump suit, should necessarily do so. There are lineups in which it is better for him deliberately to concede a natural trump trick in order to use some of his trumps, or the dummy's, for ruffing out losers. Playing that way may bring him more tricks total than sweeping invincibly through the trump suit.

	♠ 7 3 ♥ 10 9 8 7 6 5 ♦ A K 5 ♣ 9 4
♠ K Q 10 6 4 ♥ A 3 2 ♦ Q 6 2 ♣ 3 2	N W E S	♠ 9 8 5 ♥ K Q J 4 ♦ 3 ♣ K Q 8 7 6

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	2 ♦	2 ♠
3 ♥	Dble.	4 ♦	Dble.

East and West were a bit upset over having lost the last rubber, which finished with an argument between them. So North, a bit of a psychologist, decided to try a little of fancy business. That was why he passed West's 1-Spade when amply able to stick in a free bid of 2-Hearts, in view of his diamond strength, especially following his original pass. He was hoping the opponents would get into trouble.

When East's 2-Clubs was overcalled by South's diamond rebid, he knew that his own diamond support was ample up to perhaps the level of four. So he then stuck in that bid of 3-Hearts and was pleased to hear East's double. He firmly expected to take it out into 4-Diamonds, but South did that for him. West's double then delighted him, as he sat over the doubler with the two tops in trumps.

Making that contract proved easy. The heart A was ru

Market Rallies To Recover Half Of This Week's Losses

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The stock market staged a strong recovery drive today that erased around half of the sharp losses suffered in the previous sessions this week.

The advance was the best in the past four and a half months, but volume on the rise didn't come near matching the total built up when the market was under selling pressure.

Railroads were well out in front on the advance with generous help from oils, motors, steels, coppers, rubbers, radio-televisions and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

Brokers felt that the rebound was a result of an oversold condition in the market—prices had gone down too far too fast, and the bounce back was a natural action.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.30 at $105.10. Volume came to 1,360,000 shares, considerable less than yesterday's 1,730,000 shares when prices were down on balance.

Pepsi-Cola, which yesterday after the close declared an annual dividend of 25 cents and an extra of 10 cents, was the day's most active issue up ½ at 10⅛ with 29,900 shares traded. R-K-O, sixth most active, off ⅛ at 4.

Following Pepsi-Cola in the number one spot was Northern Pacific up 1¼ at 69 with 27,000 shares traded, International Telephone up ⅝ at 18⅛ with 21,300 shares.

LOSE A TRICK IN TRUMP

MANY things in bridge, which at first blush seem obvious, are not obvious at all. Among those is the idea that a declarer, who is able to take every trick in the trump suit, should necessarily do so. There are lineups in which it is better for him deliberately to concede a natural trump trick in order to use some of his trumps, or the dummy's, for ruffing out losers. Playing that way may bring him more tricks total than sweeping invincibly through the trump suit.

	♠ 7 3 ♥ 10 9 8 7 6 5 ♦ A K 5 ♣ 9 4
♠ K Q 10 6 4 ♥ A 3 2 ♦ Q 6 2 ♣ 3 2	N W E S	♠ 9 8 5 ♥ K Q J 4 ♦ 3 ♣ K Q 8 7 6
	♠ A J 2 ♥ None ♦ J 10 9 8 7 4 ♣ A J 10 5

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	2 ♦	2 ♠
3 ♥	Dble.	4 ♦	Dble.

East and West were a bit upset over having lost the last rubber, which finished with an argument between them. So North, a bit of a psychologist, decided to try a little of fancy business. That was why he passed West's 1-Spade when amply able to stick in a free bid of 2-Hearts, in view of his diamond strength, especially following his original pass. He was hoping the opponents would get into trouble.

When East's 2-Clubs was overcalled by South's diamond rebid, he knew that his own diamond support was ample up to perhaps the level of four. So he then stuck in that bid of 3-Hearts and was pleased to hear East's double. He firmly expected to take it out into 4-Diamonds, but South did that for him. West's double then delighted him, as he sat over the doubler with the two tops in trumps.

Making that contract proved easy. The heart A was ruffed by the diamond 4, the spade A scored, the 2 given up to the 10 and the club 3 to the Q won by the A. The spade J was ruffed by the diamond 5 and the club 9 led to East's K. The club 8 came back to the J, ruffed by the diamond 2 and K, the diamond A was scored, and

75,000-100,000 WATCH BIG PARADE

Huge Crowds Throng Three Mile Route

Over 80 Units Take Part In Spectacle

The greatest crowd in the history of this city packed a three-mile route last night to watch the parade featuring the second day of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Official police estimates set the crowd at from 75,000 to 100,000. At least 12,000 of the spectators were watching from the downtown area.

The crowd, police reported, was greater than at the parade during the Sesquicentennial of Cumberland in 1937.

Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshal who planned the parade under the direction of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, inserted sparkle, glow, color, humor, beauty rhyme and chime to the industrial parade.

Children who are accompanied by their parents may attend the industrial displays at the State Armory without charge, the committee announced yesterday.

General admission to the exhibits is 25 cents, but children are being admitted free if accompanied by their parents. The displays will be open again from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. today, the closing day of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Parade Is Colorful

Colorful floats, musical bands, the tatoo of marching bodies and the screams of fire truck sirens brought an epidemic of enthusiasm over the huge crowd.

Sprinkled amid the crashing volley of drums appeared occasional humor as watchers laughted at the antics of antique auto drivers. Among them was a 1902 antique and a 1911 Oldsmobile equipped with a screeching horn.

Nearly 20 floats, expertly decorated with flowers and tinfoil, brought signs of emotion from the cheering spectators. One of the first to appear in the line of march was the Chamber of Commerce float with Miss Lorraine Sager, "Industrial Queen," and her court of princesses made up of 11 girls from area communities.

Applaud Floats

Another eye-catcher was the Western Maryland Chapter of Maryland Motor Association float which exhibited several large butterflies, lighted and surrounded with gowned beauties. Adding to the parade attraction was the Western Maryland Railway Float which was a large birthday cake with candles and more girls.

In fact, all the floats were received with cheers and applause by the crowd.

Win Fire Prizes

Potomac Fire Company, of Westernport, won first prize of $100 for making the best appearance of the dozens of volunteer fire companies in the line of march.

The Vigilant Fire Company, of Keyser, took second place and a prize of $75.

In third place and winner of a $50 prize was the Petersburg, W. Va., Volunteer Fire Company.

The Shaft Volunteer Fire Company was fourth place winner and received a prize of $25.

The volunteer fire companies were rated by judges along the parade route on their general appearance. Judges were Nelson W. Russler, William A. Wilson, Cromwell Zembower, John Conway and Harry Poling.

Take Float Prizes

The Western Maryland Railway won first prize and $100 for its float. Second place winner was Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, which received a $75 prize. In third and fourth places were the Allegany County Chapter, League for Crippled Children, and the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce float, which featured the Exposition Queen and her court, was judged the most beautiful and effective, but was not considered for a prize since it was entered by the sponsoring organization.

Judges were Russell C. Paupe, Robert Colomy, Frank Florentine, Raymond Light and Norman Sell.

Providing the music and snap to the large parade were the musical units that included school and organization bands and drum and bugle corps.

The uniformed paraders, flashing action in all color combinations, set the pace for the five-section review which could be heard all along the route. Adding to the grace and rhythm of the bands were the baton-twirling majorettes with their expert handling of batons.

Some eye-catching musical units were Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools bands, Wardensville High School Band, Crouse Cadets Drum and Bugle Corps, state champs from Somerset, Pa.; Farrady Post American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Fulton Meyers American Legion and Henry Hart VFW drum and bugle corps, Moorefield and Petersburg

PATRIOTIC FLOAT—This float, designed by the Oakland Boy Scouts of America, was one of about 20 which travelled the three-mile line of march in last night's Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition Parade, which attracted between 75,000 and 100,000 persons. Police estimates put the crowd higher than the one which saw the Sesquicentennial Parade in 1937. At least 12,000 persons watched the parade from Baltimore Street alone. The float above reminds spectators to vote on November 4. (Other parade pictures on Page 5).

Rep. Beall Calls Demo Opponent Enemy Of Labor

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (AP) — Rep. J Glenn Beall, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, today branded his Democratic opponent an enemy of labor.

Beall said in a statement issued by his Baltimore headquarters "it has become perfectly obvious that labor unions are again refusing to endorse" George P. Mahoney, his opponent.

"Labor knows an enemy when they see one, and they are very familiar with the labor policies of the man who is running on the Democratic ticket," Beall said.

"This failure to support his candidacy was well justified. My opponent has no public record and has as yet during this campaign failed to state his position regarding any specific labor legislation."

He said he voted for the Taft-Hartley law and called it a much-agreed from the start Taft-Hartley was far from perfect and he voted for 19 amendments—"all sponsored by Republicans."

Beall charged Speaker Sam Rayburn bottled these amendments up in a House committee so President Truman "could go about the country in the future braying about that 'Slave Labor Act.'"

Beall said during his five terms in Congress he has tried his best to be fair and equitable to both labor and management. He pointed out he was re-elected in 1948 and 1950 after voting for Taft-Hartley, although in his district "there certainly is a preponderance of working people."

Beall's headquarters also announced he has been cited by the Conference of Small Business Organizations for his "statesman-like stand in regard to reduction of government spending and reduction of taxes."

Three Area Men Join U. S. Navy

They are Leon Stephen Clark, 20, of Box 216, Lonaconing, enlisted as an Electronics Technician Seaman Recruit; William Odes Alkire, 18, of 5 East Harrison Street, Piedmont, W. Va., and Charles Perry Grove, 18, of 43 East Hampshire Street, Piedmont.

The trio were enlisted this week in Baltimore and were sent to Bainbridge Naval Training Center for boot training.

Celanese Fashion Show Is Adventure For Male Patron

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

Witnessing a ladies' fashion show was something this reporter knew nothing about until yesterday afternoon.

It was surprising to see the number of men who took in the four o'clock show and moved right into the front row of seats to get a closer view of the latest fashions designed from materials of the "House of Celanese."

Soft music, well-placed lights, beautiful drapes, blended with gorgeous fall flowers made up the setting as the company "rolled out the red carpet" in one of the dazzling highlights of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Observations of the twenty models who gracefully walked before their audience displaying the "parade of styles" led one to realize the nice material that is being put into wearing apparel this season.

Modeled were garments for every occasion including beachwear, nightwear, and those for everyday and formal affairs. One of the eye-catchers, ideal for the collegiate wardrobe, is a three-piece casual costume, not to mention the bathing suit of Celanese Acetate blended with cotton and the right proportion of model.

A feature of the show was a mother-daughter display of sleep-time outfits. A brunch coat and peignoir were made of Celanese Snackbar, a striped taffeta, pajamas

Magazine Will Feature Cumberland Exposition

By LARRY T. GRECO
News Staff Writer

After hearing a broadcast about the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition, a New York City man packed up and flew to Cumberland to see for himself.

He is David Meyers, president of "The American Bicyclist and Motorcyclist," a monthly magazine which is in its 73d year of publication.

Meyers said he heard about the three-day exposition during a nation-wide NBC broadcast of the "Cumberland Story" which originated here and told about the city that "didn't quit when it was licked."

Meyers then wrote to H. K. Gummel, manager of bicycle tire sales for Kelly, and invited himself to the celebration.

Admires Scenery

As Meyers flew into Cumberland by All American Airways yesterday, he was greatly impressed with the scenic beauty of the Queen City's mountains and location.

Kelly officials took Meyers to Ali Ghan Country Club where he spent several hours admiring the landscape beauty and breath-taking atmosphere of the surrounding mountains.

Meyers compared the club and surrounding view to the elaborate clubs of Westchester County in New York, the wealthiest county of the East. The magazine president added that he had never seen a more beautiful club and scenery.

"New York has its clubs, plays and concerts," he said, "but this is a place to live."

Will Feature City

So impressed was he with his first visit to Cumberland that Meyers plans to write a story, with picture layout, of the Cumberland Exposition and the Kelly exhibits in the next issue of his magazine.

Meyers' magazine, a coast-to-coast publication since 1879, is read by all the nation's big buyers of bicycles, sports goods and toys. He advertises all the nationally known department stores and chain stores of America.

Meyers pointed out that Cumberland was only a name to him until yesterday. He left last night after viewing the industrial parade, going by train so he could see the surrounding scenes of Cumberland from the ground.

Meyers was shown the elaborate exhibits in the State Armory yesterday afternoon by Kelly plant officials.

Beall, Unable To Attend Exposition, Wires His Regrets

J. Glenn Beall, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, last night wired his regrets at being unable to attend the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition to J. Goodloe Jackson, general chairman of the exposition committee.

Campaigning on the Eastern Shore, Beall sent his wire from Salisbury after earlier tours of Wicomico and Talbot counties.

He told Jackson:

"I am sorry that the schedule of my campaign prevents my being in Cumberland this week. But I assure you it will be my pleasure as a local resident with a lifelong familiarity with our problems and my duty as your senator to assist and co-operate with you all in the future development of Cumberland and Allegany County."

Bids Are Asked For Mail Route

Postmaster General J. M. D[illegible]son is advertising for bids for carrying mail between Cumberland and Barton, local postal officials announced yesterday.

Deadline for the bids will be November 13, 1952. Service will begin December 1, 1952, and end June 30, 1953.

A bond of $2,600 is required with the bid, postal officials said, and the contract requires service twice daily including Sunday and holidays. The current annual rate for carrying the mail is $5,185.

The route involves carrying the mail from the local B&O Railroad station to the Cumberland post office, to LaVale, Corriganville, Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Midland, Lonaconing, Nikep and Barton.

The return route will be from Barton by Lonaconing, Midland, National, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Corriganville and Cumberland and to the local B&O station.

Ankeney Serves With Democrats For Eisenhower

F. H. Ankeney, 512 Cumberland Street, a lifelong Democrat, verified last night that he is a member of the Maryland Democrats for Eisenhower Committee.

The local businessman from 1916 to 1920 served as president of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors. He received this appointment from a Democratic governor, Emerson C. Harrington of Dorchester County.

Many other prominent Democrats from throughout the state are serving on this Eisenhower committee. Probably the most prominent of all is Howard W. Jackson, who served four terms as a Democratic mayor of Baltimore.

Attending WT Congress

Thomas F. Conlon Jr. is in Miami, Fla., as a delegate to the World Travel Congress, October 19 to 24. Following the meetings of the American Society of Travel Agents with representatives of carriers and hotels, he will go with the delegates to Nassau for a post convention tour of the Bahamas.

Troop 4 Scouts Advanced At Court Of Honor

Four members were awarded merit badges in the candle light ceremony attended by members of the troop, their parents and scout officials.

Charles Keyser, committeeman, presented second class awards to Paul Hasenbuhler, Eugene Kerr and Charles Fearer. First class awardss were presented to Larry Shafferman and Larry Cessna by J. Paul Fisher. Robert O. Collins, troop committeeman, gave explorer apprentice awards to Ronald Gillum and James Blank.

Charles Oster, who was elected president of the parents organization at the meeting, presented merit badges to Larry Shafferman for bookbinding and art; Kent Smith, camping, bird study, and pioneering; Neil Smith, pioneering, camping and rowing; and Larry Cessna, swimming and life saving.

Harry McNeel, assistant scoutmaster, presented advancement scoreboards for the next rank to each of the scouts. Charles Oster Jr. and Erich Roeder were invested as tenderfoot scouts after the Court of Honor ceremony.

Chairman of the affair was Herbert D. Lehr, scoutmaster, while Clyde Cessna, troop committeeman, was scribe. J. L. Towler, of the District Advancement Committee, was introduced to the parents and spoke on behalf of scout advancement.

Midland Girl Seeks $15,000 For Her Injuries

Judge Harris Files Opinion

Louise Rogish, 14-year-old Midland girl who sustained a broken right leg and other injuries last March 9 when she was struck by an automobile on Route 36 at Midland, yesterday filed a $15,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit, filed through her father and next friend, John J. Rogish, by Attorney Leslie J. Clark, listed Alvin LeRoy Lease and James Dewey Buskirk, both of Gilmore, as defendants.

Buskirk Driving

Buskirk was driving Lease's car and the owner was a passenger in the motor vehicle at the time of the accident, authorities said.

In another development in the same case earlier yesterday, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court handed down an opinion that Lease was arrested in a legal manner after the accident.

Judge Harris said the sole question for determination was whether the arrest, without first obtaining a warrant, was legal.

Lease was arrested by State Trooper Milton G. Hart on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, wherein personal injuries were involved, without rendering assistance and reckless driving.

Magistrate Melvin S. Sloan of Lonaconing found Lease guilty of both charges following a hearing last month. A writ of certiorari was filed by John M. Robb, attorney for Lease, and a hearing held in the case on October 9 in Circuit Court before Judge Harris.

A motion by the state to quash the writ was made by the state's attorney's office and Judge Harris has sustained this motion in his opinion filed yesterday.

The appeal of Lease to Circuit Court from the conviction on the two charges was not affected by the court's ruling yesterday, but will be based on a hearing to determine if the magistrate exercised the right judgment in the case.

Officers Handcuffed

Judge Harris stated that the "right of people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures is of importance, but some improper interpretations placed upon this constitutional guarantee has done much to handcuff the officers in the routine performance of their duties and is often the product of misguided sentimentality."

St. Mark's To Hold Special Services

In keeping with the program of the Evangelism committee of the Pittsburgh Synod, St. Mark's Reformed Church will hold services each evening beginning Monday at 7:30 o'clock and continuing each evening through October 26.

Rev. Huitte R. Carpenter, pastor of Shiloh Reformed Church, in Faith, N. C., will be guest speaker. Rev. Mr. Carpenter has been very active in the work of the Southern Synod service as its president, and serving on various committees of the synod for 20 years. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Song Written In Honor Of Queen City

A song honoring Cumberland, written by a local man, was played to a large crowd for the first time Thursday night during the ceremony naming Miss Lorraine Sager as Queen of The Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Dr. W. E. Capaldi, 115 Frederick Street, composer of the music and words, has given Mayor Roy W. Eves several hundred copies of the song for distribution during the exposition.

The song, "Hail! Cumberland," was dedicated by Dr. Capaldi to the City of Cumberland, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and Ali Ghan Band.

The composition, written about 10 years ago, depicts in music the climbing of the mountains surrounding the Queen City. The first part of the song describes the roughness and possible climbing and slipping of the Cumberland hills.

In the second part, it smooths out into a melody which is followed by words. Dr. Capaldi explained the music was written to be used by local schools.

Organist was Mrs. Bertie Ranck, 100 Mullin Street, who provided the music throughout the cornation.

Dr. Capaldi, whose hobby is music, wrote the Cumberland song about three months after Gerard Everstine, former director of the Civic Orchestra, died. Mr. Everstine had talked about writing a song for Cumberland before his death.

Dr. Capaldi has been director of the Ali Ghan Shrine Band for three years and about 15 years ago organized a band for the Loyal Order of Moose.

In 1950, he organized the Allegany County Concert Band and is now a member of Richard Hamill's German Band of Frostburg. He is also an honorary member of Jafa Shrine Band of Altoona, Pa.

President of the Civic Orchestra, Dr. Capaldi's ambition is to organize a Cumberland municipal band. His song honoring Cumberland was written and published at his own expense.

In addition to his other accomplishments, Dr. Capaldi organized the Tall Cedars Band about a year ago, and has done radio appearances as vocalist under the name of Ted Williams.

President Truman Will Speak Here Next Thursday

President Harry S. Truman will be in Cumberland next Thursday in the course of his whistle-stop campaign in behalf of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, according to an International News Service dispatch from Boston.

The dispatch says that Truman will leave Washington Monday evening on a three-day swing into New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland.

The President's Thursday schedule calls for stops at Wheeling, W. Va., Braddock, McKeesport, Connellsville, Rockwood and Meyersdale, Pa., Cumberland and Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

Local Democrat leaders last night said they had heard the President might reach Cumberland on his next campaign swing but had no official confirmation.

Zion Church To Observe 85th Anniversary Sunday

Dr. A. N. Sayres To Speak At Two Special Services

Services at the North Mechanic Street church will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., and a reception will follow the evening service.

Dr. Alfred N. Sayres (inset), professor of practical Theology at the Theological Seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed Church at Lancaster, Pa., will be anniversary speaker at both services.

Rev. Raymond A. Faulds Jr., pastor, will be liturgist at the morning service, and Dr. Sayres will speak on "Taking the Church's Measure." Duets will be played by Mrs. A. C. Emerick, organist, and Miss Helen Mae Kreiling, pianist. The Senior Choir will sing.

At the evening service, Dr. Sayres will speak on "A Preacher Prays." Organ and piano music will be played, and the choir will sing. Miss Kreiling will present a vocal solo, "Beside Still Waters."

Afterwards, Dr. Sayres will be honored at a reception in the church social hall, with the public invited.

Zion Church has occupied its present building at 405-407 North Mechanic (right) since 1912, when it moved there from a Liberty Street property it had held since 1867. Twenty-five pastors have served the church since its founding. Rev. Faulds, present pastor, came here in June 1950.

In preparation for the anniversary observance, the sancturary and church school rooms recently were redecorated throughout.

75,000-100,000 WATCH BIG PARADE

Huge Crowds Throng Three Mile Route

Over 80 Units Take Part In Spectacle

The greatest crowd in the history of this city packed a three-mile route last night to watch the parade featuring the second day of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Official police estimates set the crowd at from 75,000 to 100,000. At least 12,000 of the spectators were watching from the downtown area.

The crowd, police reported, was greater than at the parade during the Sesquicentennial of Cumberland in 1937.

Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshal who planned the parade under the direction of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, inserted sparkle, glow, color, humor, beauty rhyme and chime to the industrial parade.

Children who are accompanied by their parents may attend the industrial displays at the State Armory without charge, the committee announced yesterday.

General admission to the exhibits is 25 cents, but children are being admitted free if accompanied by their parents. The displays will be open again from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. today, the closing day of the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Troop 4 Scouts Advanced At Court Of Honor

Seven members of Boy Scout Troop 4, sponsored by Centre Street Methodist Church, were advanced in rank during a Court of Honor ceremony held this week in the meeting room of the church.

Four members were awarded merit badges in the candle light ceremony attended by members of the troop, their parents and scout officials.

Charles Keyser, committeeman, presented second class awards to Paul Hasenbuhler, Eugene Kerr and Charles Fearer. First class awardss were presented to Larry Shafferman and Larry Cessna by J. Paul Fisher. Robert O. Collins, troop committeeman, gave explorer apprentice awards to Ronald Gillum and James Blank.

Charles Oster, who was elected president of the parents organization at the meeting, presented merit badges to Larry Shafferman for bookbinding and art; Kent Smith, camping, bird study, and pioneering; Neil Smith, pioneering, camping and rowing; and Larry Cessna, swimming and life saving.

Harry McNeel, assistant scoutmaster, presented advancement scoreboards for the next rank to each of the scouts. Charles Oster Jr. and Erich Roeder were invested as tenderfoot scouts after the Court of Honor ceremony.

Chairman of the affair was Herbert D. Lehr, scoutmaster, while Clyde Cessna, troop committeeman, was scribe. J. L. Towler, of the District Advancement Committee, was introduced to the parents and spoke on behalf of scout advancement.

Ankeney Serves With Democrats For Eisenhower

F. H. Ankeney, 512 Cumberland Street, a lifelong Democrat, verified last night that he is a member of the Maryland Democrats for Eisenhower Committee.

The local businessman from 1916 to 1920 served as president of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors. He received this appointment from a Democratic governor, Emerson C. Harrington of Dorchester County.

Many other prominent Democrats from throughout the state are serving on this Eisenhower committee. Probably the most prominent of all is Howard W. Jackson, who served four terms as a Democratic mayor of Baltimore.

Attending WT Congress

Thomas F. Conlon Jr. is in Miami, Fla., as a delegate to the World Travel Congress, October 19 to 24. Following the meetings of the American Society of Travel Agents with representatives of carriers and hotels, he will go with the delegates to Nassau for a post convention tour of the Bahamas.

Midland Girl Seeks $15,000 For Her Injuries

Judge Harris Files Opinion

Louise Rogish, 14-year-old Midland girl who sustained a broken right leg and other injuries last March 9 when she was struck by an automobile on Route 36 at Midland, yesterday filed a $15,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit, filed through her father and next friend, John J. Rogish, by Attorney Leslie J. Clark, listed Alvin LeRoy Lease and James Dewey Buskirk, both of Gilmore, as defendants.

Buskirk Driving

Buskirk was driving Lease's car and the owner was a passenger in the motor vehicle at the time of the accident, authorities said.

In another development in the same case earlier yesterday, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court handed down an opinion that Lease was arrested in a legal manner after the accident.

Judge Harris said the sole question for determination was whether the arrest, without first obtaining a warrant, was legal.

Lease was arrested by State Trooper Milton G. Hart on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, wherein personal injuries were involved, without rendering assistance and reckless driving.

Magistrate Melvin S. Sloan of Lonaconing found Lease guilty of both charges following a hearing last month. A writ of certiorari was filed by John M. Robb, attorney for Lease, and a hearing held in the case on October 9 in Circuit Court before Judge Harris.

A motion by the state to quash the writ was made by the state's attorney's office and Judge Harris has sustained this motion in his opinion filed yesterday.

The appeal of Lease to Circuit Court from the conviction on the two charges was not affected by the court's ruling yesterday, but will be based on a hearing to determine if the magistrate exercised the right judgment in the case.

Officers Handcuffed

Judge Harris stated that the "right of people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures is of importance, but some improper interpretations placed upon this constitutional guarantee has done much to handcuff the officers in the routine performance of their duties and is often the product of misguided sentimentality."

St. Mark's To Hold Special Services

In keeping with the program of the Evangelism committee of the Pittsburgh Synod, St. Mark's Reformed Church will hold services each evening beginning Monday at 7:30 o'clock and continuing each evening through October 26.

Rev. Huitte R. Carpenter, pastor of Shiloh Reformed Church, in Faith, N. C., will be guest speaker. Rev. Mr. Carpenter has been very active in the work of the Southern Synod service as its president, and serving on various committees of the synod for 20 years. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Song Written In Honor Of Queen City

A song honoring Cumberland, written by a local man, was played to a large crowd for the first time Thursday night during the ceremony naming Miss Lorraine Sager as Queen of The Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition.

Dr. W. E. Capaldi, 115 Frederick Street, composer of the music and words, has given Mayor Roy W. Eves several hundred copies of the song for distribution during the exposition.

The song, "Hail! Cumberland," was dedicated by Dr. Capaldi to the City of Cumberland, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and Ali Ghan Band.

The composition, written about 10 years ago, depicts in music the climbing of the mountains surrounding the Queen City. The first part of the song describes the roughness and possible climbing and slipping of the Cumberland hills.

In the second part, it smooths out into a melody which is followed by words. Dr. Capaldi explained the music was written to be used by local schools.

Organist was Mrs. Bertie Ranck, 100 Mullin Street, who provided the music throughout the cornation.

Dr. Capaldi, whose hobby is music, wrote the Cumberland song about three months after Gerard Everstine, former director of the Civic Orchestra, died. Mr. Everstine had talked about writing a song for Cumberland before his death.

Dr. Capaldi has been director of the Ali Ghan Shrine Band for three years and about 15 years ago organized a band for the Loyal Order of Moose.

In 1950, he organized the Allegany County Concert Band and is now a member of Richard Hamill's German Band of Frostburg. He is also an honorary member of Jafa Shrine Band of Altoona, Pa.

President of the Civic Orchestra, Dr. Capaldi's ambition is to organize a Cumberland municipal band. His song honoring Cumberland was written and published at his own expense.

In addition to his other accomplishments, Dr. Capaldi organized the Tall Cedars Band about a year ago, and has done radio appearances as vocalist under the name of Ted Williams.

President Truman Will Speak Here Next Thursday

President Harry S. Truman will be in Cumberland next Thursday in the course of his whistle-stop campaign in behalf of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, according to an International News Service dispatch from Boston.

The dispatch says that Truman will leave Washington Monday evening on a three-day swing into New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland.

The President's Thursday schedule calls for stops at Wheeling, W. Va., Braddock, McKeesport, Connellsville, Rockwood and Meyersdale, Pa., Cumberland and Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

Local Democrat leaders last night said they had heard the President might reach Cumberland on his next campaign swing but had no official confirmation.

Zion Church To Observe 85th Anniversary Sunday

Dr. A. N. Sayres To Speak At Two Special Services

Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, founded in 1867, will observe its 85th anniversary with special services tomorrow.

Services at the North Mechanic Street church will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., and a reception will follow the evening service.

Dr. Alfred N. Sayres (inset), professor of practical Theology at the Theological Seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed Church at Lancaster, Pa., will be anniversary speaker at both services.

Rev. Raymond A. Faulds Jr., pastor, will be liturgist at the morning service, and Dr. Sayres will speak on "Taking the Church's Measure." Duets will be played by Mrs. A. C. Emerick, organist, and Miss Helen Mae Kreiling, pianist. The Senior Choir will sing.

At the evening service, Dr. Sayres will speak on "A Preacher Prays." Organ and piano music will be played, and the choir will sing. Miss Kreiling will present a vocal solo, "Beside Still Waters."

Afterwards, Dr. Sayres will be honored at a reception in the church social hall, with the public invited.

Zion Church has occupied its present building at 405-407 North Mechanic (right) since 1912, when it moved there from a Liberty Street property it had held since 1867. Twenty-five pastors have served the church since its founding. Rev. Faulds, present pastor, came here in June 1950.

In preparation for the anniversary observance, the sancturary and church school rooms recently were redecorated throughout.
